Improved Seating for Halls, Churches, Chapels, Sunday Schools, Etc.

Our Assembly Folding Chairs with Tilting or Stationary Backs, Noiseless Folding Seats, Foot Rests, Hat, Coat, Cane and Umbrella Racks, have been adopted in hundreds of the best buildings in the country.

The handsome Young Men's Christian Association buildings of Brooklyn, Harlem (N. Y. City), Albany, Buffalo, Syracuse, Utica, Mt. Vernon, N. Y., Richmond, Staunton, Va., Burlington, Vt., Attleboro, Mass., Baltimore, and many others are seated with Andrews' Chairs.

215 Wabash Ave.,
Chicago,
Ill.

C. F. WEBER & Co.,
Corner Post and
Stockton Sts.,
San Francisco,
Cal.

This style of seating is now taking the place of pews in many of the more modern churches and chapels. Among them we would name: The Methodist Book Concern Chapel, New York City; The Gospel Tabernacle, 44th Street and Eighth Avenue; New York City; Peoples' Church, Boston; Goucher Memorial Church, Baltimore; Goodwill Congregational Church, Syracuse; First M. E. Church, Jamestown, N. Y.

PEOPLE YOU KNOW!

The Young Men's Christian Association of the City of Cleveland.

The Grand Rapids School Furniture Co., Grand Rapids, Mich.—GENTLEMEN—Referring to your letter of March 2, in reference to the chairs placed in our hall. We have, so far, had no occasion to find anything but satisfaction with the goods which you have placed in our hall. The automatic hinge is exceptionally valuable, and its working is thoroughly practical, and, as we believe, bound to be durable. We have had a number of inquiries in reference to the place where we bought these chairs, and we are always glad to say a good word for them. We regret, however, that we allowed so many of the 18 in. chairs to be placed. The only complaints we have had have been from people who have felt that they were cramped for room. Hoping that you may have a large sale for your goods, I remain, yours truly,

Fred. S. Goodman, Secy.

Inquiring into the merits of our goods and getting our prices.

The days of clumsy, crude, poorly designed gymnastic apparatus are over. The prominent part which gymnastics have rightfully taken in the education of all classes, side by side with mental training, demands that more attention be paid to the proper construction of appliances for this purpose.

Deal Directly with the Manufacturers.

We have carefully studied the requirements of the modern gymnasium, and profiting by others failure, as well as our own experience, we have established a complete and extensive plant, with the best of facilities and appliances.

Centrally Located at Akron, Ohio.

For the sole and express purpose of manufacturing a superior grade of gymnastic apparatus.

The manufacture of this class of goods receives our entire attention, and the testimonials of many persons of authority in gymnastics at Young Men's Christian Associations, Colleges, etc., are evidence that our goods have reached a high state of perfection.

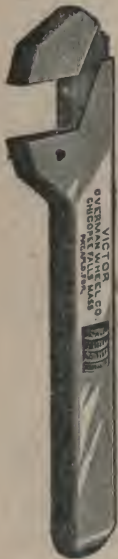

We have recently received patents on many new forms of apparatus, which will positively displace the old forms.

Do not be the last to Adopt them !!

Rev. Dr. William P. Stowe, Chicago, October, 1890:—“Having used a copy of your Bourgeois Edition of the ‘Oxford’ Teachers’ Bible for about two years, I am frank to say that for size and clearness of type, for valuable helps, and elegant and substantial bindings, it has no superior in the market.”

Rev. J. M. Buckley, D. D., Editor, Christian Advocate, October, 1890:—“This is the most complete work for its purpose within our knowledge. . . . It is our constant companion when absent from home,—a library in itself, seldom leaving any additional helps to be desired.”

Rev. Dr. Hurlbut, Editor S.S. Magazine, etc., October, 1890:—“It pays every Bible student to possess the best copy of the sacred word that can be obtained; for if a book is in constant use, the best is always the cheapest. The ‘Oxford’ Teachers’ Bible is so perfect as to leave but little for future printers to improve upon. . . . Whoever obtains this book and uses it, even with no other help, may become a Bible scholar.”

Gymnasium

construction and fitting is a subject that has vexed the mind of many a committee. How large a gymnasium should be, the proper height for ceiling, roof and running gallery, where to put the dressing-room, lockers, bowling alleys, etc., how to light and heat a gymnasium, what apparatus to put in and where to get it

“To Build a Church,

first order the bell,” says an old proverb. We say to have a good gymnasium, first consider the apparatus, its requirements, uses, etc. How can this be done? It has been done. We have been studying the requirements of gymnasia for the last eight years, and if you will write us, we will send you the facts we have ascertained. For nothing? No; but all we ask is that you bear in mind that we furnish gymnasium apparatus, lockers, bowling alleys, in fact complete gymnasium outfits, and when you want any of these, or a chest weight for home use, write to the 66	(84) Associations report special work for Commercial Travelers.

190	(178) Associations report organized work for Boys.

NOTE.—In the Report Form sent out this year, "Gospel Meeting" and "Young Men's Meeting" were more clearly defined, which accounts for the relative difference between the number of these two meetings reported, as compared with last year. The two meetings taken together show an increase over the figures of the Year Book for 1890.

Annual Reports of the Agents of the International Committee, to March 1, 1891.

ANNUAL REPORT OF RICHARD C. MORSE,

General Secretary.

I.—In direct relation to the Committee :

1. The monthly meetings of the Committee and of its various sub-committees have been regularly attended by the General Secretary during the past year, as well as the meetings of such special committees as have been appointed from time to time. He has also conducted the correspondence connected with all these meetings and with much of the administration of the Committee's work.

2. The annual dinner meeting of the Committee was held in New York, Thursday evening, November 20, nearly all of its secretaries and a large number of its friends being present. Similar dinner meetings were held in Brooklyn, November 19, and Boston, December 11, the latter being a joint meeting in the interest of both the State and International Committees.

II.—In relation to the secretaries and agents of the Committee :

1. The visitation, correspondence, and office work of the various secretaries and agents of the Committee have been the subject of frequent conference with the Chairman and with the sub-committees charged with the different departments. The correspondence has been greater than in any previous year, owing to the enlargement of the Committee's activity.

2. In addition to the regular force of the Committee's secretaries, it has been necessary, in order to accomplish this enlarged work, to secure the help of a number of friends, and the following gentlemen have acted effectively as the Committee's representative in various fields :

F. K. Sanders has edited The Intercollegian very acceptably for another year, and has aided the college work in various other ways. He was present at the college conferences of Minnesota and Virginia, and at the Northfield Summer School ; attended the Massachusetts and Connecticut State Conventions, and a district conference at Norristown, Pa. ; addressed the students of the Association Training School, at Springfield, and a public meeting at Stamford, Conn., on the Day of Prayer ; and has rendered considerable help to the city and college work in New Haven.

E. L. Loudon, has, as usual, given much time and effort to the work on behalf of commercial travelers. Twenty cities have been visited, and a large correspondence carried on. The effect of his earnest labors in this field for several years past, is being manifested in the increased interest in this special effort, on the part of many Associations. Among the results reported for the year is the hopeful conversion of twenty-seven commercial travelers.

E. W. Watkins, in May, visited Salt Lake City, in the interest of the local work, which in former years, while he was yet a regular agent of the Committee, he had helped to inaugurate.

W. E. Wayte spent several weeks in Texas in the Spring of 1890, visiting and aiding various Associations. His services were so satisfactory to the Association men there that they have since secured him as State Secretary.

Theo. A. Harding, in February, made a trip to Florida, visiting Jacksonville, St. Augustine and Tampa, in the interest of the local work. On his way back he spent two days at the Georgia State Convention, at Brunswick.

Messrs. J. W. Hansel, A. T. Jamison, Dr. F. W. Kelley and I. E. Brown, have rendered the Committee a valuable service by attending State Conventions as its representatives.

H. F. Williams continued in connection with the Railroad Department of the Committee's work until November, 1890, giving as much time and attention as he could consistently with his duties as editor of the "Young Men's Era." His work for the Committee was almost entirely directed to that portion of the field west of the Mississippi, in connection with the labors of Mr. Gates upon the line of the Union Pacific.

3. In response to the requests of the various State Committees, arrangements were made for the representation of the Committee at each of the 37 State and Provincial Conventions held during the year closing March 1, 1891. Besides its secretaries, six members of the Committee and nine other friends of the work co-operated in this representation and in aiding the State and Provincial organizations at their annual meetings.

III.—Conference at the office of the Committee :

1. Personal calls at the office for consultation, by officers and friends of the Associations from all parts of the country, have multiplied more than ever during the past year. This very important part of the Committee's work is necessarily quite unreportable, but as a result of such consultation many difficult problems have been solved, and, in the process of their solution, much valuable experience has been accumulated that can be made available for the future help of Associations in like difficulties.

Trying emergencies multiply in the work of the Associations from year to year, and contact with these various problems deepens the impression, on the one hand, of the growing usefulness of the Associations, and on the other, of the value of a headquarters of intelligence and consultation, making practicable an exchange of views and experiences. The reports of the secretaries of the Committee give more in detail how much of solution of difficult problems and accomplishment of difficult work has been achieved in part, as a result of these conferences and consultations. Among the problems and emergencies of various sorts that have been the occasion of this consultation may be enumerated: securing a qualified local or State Secretary; planning a building fund canvass or a building itself, involving criticism of architects' plans in the light of the best Association building experience; consultation about some new phases in the metropolitan organizations and the relation of some department of the local work to the others; some critical emergency in the State work in its relation to local organizations; the treatment in State and local meetings of new themes relating to the development of various departments, such treatment as would make a positive contribution to the Association literature already existing ; and inquiry about Association work on the foreign mission field, its further extension, and the best methods to be pursued.

IV.—Correspondence :

1. As in previous years, many hours each week have been devoted by the Chairman of the Committee to the careful consideration of all the more important correspondence and work already referred to in this report. Much of this correspondence has been undertaken by him, and has grown out of his many personal conferences with the General Secretary, and with the other secretaries, as they have come from time to time to the central office, each for consultation about his work. The General Secretary has had similar conferences with the chairmen of the various sub-committees.

2. The usual call for the day and week of prayer for young men in November was widely circulated, and accompanied by a correspondence that promoted a more general observance than ever before. As a result, the religious work received very general and decided impulse. Encouraging reports concerning it were sent in by a large number of Associations. In response to the recommendation of the International Convention, 569 Associations took up collections in aid of the international work.

3. The friends contributing to the support of the work entrusted to the Committee have been corresponded with, and many new friends have been enlisted. The success of this correspondence, and of the requests conveyed in it, was very necessary in view of the expenditure by the Committee during 1890 of a larger sum than in any previous year. By the Divine blessing in answer to prayer and effort, the Committee was able to close its fiscal year free of debt.

4. In connection with the educational department of the Associations, and in response to inquiries concerning its promotion, correspondence has been had with the trustees of the Pratt Institute of Brooklyn, (where a high standard of excellence has been reached in extending to young men many of the advantages contemplated by the Associations in their educational classes), and, with the friendly co-operation of the trustees and teachers of that institution, helpful suggestion of value in the development of the educational department of the Associations has been secured and communicated.

5. With the secretaries of the Committee upon the foreign field, in Madras, India, and Tokio, Japan, an extensive correspondence has been maintained, in response to which full report of their work has been received, and in turn communicated to the friends and Associations specially contributing toward its support. The good progress made, as a result of the efforts of both secretaries, appears in their reports.

R. S. Miller, Jr., General Secretary of the Cornell University Association from 1888 to 1890, was led to devote his life to work for young men upon the foreign field, and desired to associate himself with Mr. Swift in the work in Japan. The Cornell University Association pledged the salary of Mr. Miller, and during the Autumn of 1890 he visited Associations in the Maritime Provinces, New England and the Middle States, securing the sympathy and co-operation of his Association brethren, and such knowledge of the work as was of indispensable importance to him, and reached Japan, March 16, to begin his Association work there as assistant secretary of the Committee on that field.

6 With J. B. Reynolds, correspondence has been maintained during the past year, while he has continued his labors upon the continent of Europe, visiting the various universities, and spending several months in Paris promoting Association work among the students of the Latin quarter in that city.

7. With the World's Committee at Geneva, Switzerland, correspondence has been continued in reference to its work, and to revision of the rules, and preparation of the program, of the World's Conference, to meet in Amsterdam, Holland, August 12-16.

V.—Personal Visitation:

To all the many calls upon the General Secretary for personal visitation of Associations, and for attendance upon State and other conventions, it has been impracticable to respond favorably. But he attended (1) the General Secretaries' Conference at Nashville, Tenn., May 7-11, 1890; (2) the Students' Summer School at Northfield, Mass., in July; (3) the conference of the International and Kansas State Committees at Topeka, September 17; (4) the annual meeting, of the Ladies' Auxiliaries of the Massachusetts Associations at Cambridge, October 2; (5) the State Convention of Minnesota and the Dakotas at Sioux Falls, S. D., October 22-26, where, in response to the request of the State Committee, he read a paper on the "Influence and Relationships of the Young Men's Christian Associations," which was subsequently published by the Committee in pamphlet form; (6) the laying of the corner stone of the new Association building in Cincinnati, Oct. 29; (7) the annual convention of the Associations of Ontario and Quebec, at Kingston, Feb. 4-8, and remained for two days to aid the Kingston Association in a building canvass; (8) the sessions of the special committee to prepare the "Topics for Young Men's Meetings and Bible Classes," of 1891, at Lakewood, N. J., Nov. 22-26; and (9) the first international convention of the Students' Volunteer Movement, in Cleveland, Feb. 26 to March 1.

As opportunity offered, and in response to special invitations, four Association anniversary meetings and five other Association meetings in as many cities were addressed, and eight other points were visited for conference concerning critical emergencies in State and local work, making a total of 26 visits, involving 64 days.

He has also continued to serve upon the graduate committee of the Yale University Association; has aided the International Training School at Springfield, and the Association Training School at Chicago, as a trustee of each institution; and has co-operated with the National Council of Great Britain, as its corresponding member for America, and with the International Central Committee, as its American honorary secretary.

ANNUAL REPORT OF ERSKINE UHL,

Office Secretary.

The office of the Committee, of which I have general oversight, has been yet more busy during the year than ever before. Curtis M. Thorpe remains in charge of its business details. John Glover, in addition to many other duties, has conducted most of the secretarial correspondence, and has kept the register of men employed by the Associations, from which he has made the summary given below. Clarence H. Lee is chiefly occupied in connection with the college work. Several other helpers, both permanent and temporary, have been employed.

The secretarial work has been prosecuted as described in former Year Books. The following figures cover what has been done along this line by all the International Secretaries, so far as reported to the office. Most of the cases involved correspondence directly from the headquarters, and often much consultation among International and State Secretaries.

Since April 1, 1890, 60 names have been entered upon our register as candidates for the secretaryship. Of this number 54 found places, leaving 6 now on the list.

At the office, personal intercourse or correspondence, sometimes very extended, was held during the year with 196 others that were not prepared to undertake the work, or that found places in it through their own efforts. The visiting secretaries of the Committee frequently confer on the same subject with young men that do not come into any communication with the office.

On April 1, 1889, 16 vacancies were recorded at the office as needing our help; 98 applications have been added to these, making 114 altogether, for State Secretaries and their assistants, for general secretaries and their assistants, and for physical directors. Of the 114 vacancies, we assisted in filling 54; 38 were filled through the action of others; 5 were postponed; and 12 now stand on our books. Among the 54 vacancies that we helped to fill, 3 were in general work.

Of the vacancies just mentioned 2 were in Canada; 5 in New England; 10 in New York, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania; 31 in States west of these; and 6 at the South. In addition to the vacancies already referred to, advice has been sought from the secretaries of the Committee regarding at least double the number mentioned above, but not so definitely as to warrant their entrance upon our register. And, of course, a very much larger amount of secretarial work in the aggregate is done by the State Committees and their secretaries, independently of the International Committee, than is done by representatives of the latter.

In 1885, 273 Associations and branches employed secretaries; now 668 do so. The details of this progress in the different divisions of the continent are shown in a table immediately following the List of General Secretaries.

In 1865 there were, so far as ascertained, only three employed secretaries. In 1871, when the "General Secretaries' Association" was organized, there were probably less than twenty salaried officers, hardly any two of whom bore the same title, while very few of them were doing what would now be considered the work of a general secretary. In 1873, the first list compiled for the Year Book (and probably quite incomplete) contained 51 names.

1,044 men were registered in our office as employed in Association work in various capacities on February 1, 1891.

The occupations in which they were engaged immediately before entering our work were as follows:

International Y. M.	Business.....	755	Ministry.....	19
C. A. Training	Teaching.....	36	Law and Medicine...	6
School, Springfield. 48	Mission Work.....	10	Not-reporting... ..	18
School or College....	146	Evangelistic Work..	6

(Of course, this list does not indicate how many altogether had been in the School at Springfield, or in college, or in the ministry, etc.)

They represented the following denominations :

Reformed Episcopal. 2	Moravian..... 3	Congregational ....172
United Brethren... 2	Christian..... 8	Baptist.....174
Reformed (German). 2	Reformed (Dutch).. 18	Presbyterian.....272

ANNUAL REPORT OF ROBERT WEIDENSALL,

Secretary.

Notwithstanding the loss of time occasioned by ill-health, I have been enabled to do a much better work the past year than during the previous one.

I have traveled 19,000 miles in twenty-one different States; spent more or less time in fifty-six cities and towns; visited thirty-nine Associations, some of them a number of times; attended the Secretaries' Conference, at Nashville, Tenn., and the State Conventions of Arkansas, Colorado, Tennessee, Nebraska, and Georgia, and met and advised with their State Committees.

I made the opening address of the Hannibal district convention, at Mexico, Mo., and attended the county convention of Edgefield county, at Edgefield, S. C. Visits of one or more days were made to the Associations in Philadelphia, Washington, Baltimore, York, Pa.; Nashville, and Memphis, Tenn.; Little Rock, Ark.; Omaha, and Kearney, Neb.; Kansas City, and St. Louis, Mo.; Denver, Colorado Springs, Manitou Springs, Pueblo, Leadville, and Aspen, Col.; and Savannah, Ga. At several of these points, the help I sought to render consisted in seeking to impress upon the Associations the importance of (1) the officers, directors and committees in their relations to the work; (2) more Bible study; (3) an increase in the number of volunteer workers; and (4) correct methods of work.

Assistance was rendered the general executive committee of the Associations of the Pacific Northwest in securing a State Secretary, and four important local Associations in securing general secretaries.

I attended the Western Secretarial Institute at Lake Geneva, also the school for students, which met immediately afterwards on the Institute grounds, and was present and took part in the memorial service of our beloved brother, W. E. Lewis, that was held in the Tabernacle of the Institute, which was afterwards most fittingly called "The Lewis Memorial Tabernacle."

The State Conventions that I attended this year were not, perhaps, so large nor so enthusiastic as in former years, but their deliberations and resolutions were more in keeping with Association principles and customs than ever before. Greater care was exercised in making provision for the State work during the year, and in selecting the State Committees to direct it. Never before were these committees made to feel so fully the importance of the work committed to them, and never before did they so promptly, firmly, and intelligently undertake to provide the means for its support and also to direct it in accordance with Association principles and methods. This was particularly the case with Nebraska, Tennessee and Georgia. The Arkansas State work was new, but, notwithstanding, the convention was a good one. A good beginning has been made in Colorado, through provision for the employment of a State Secretary. In Nebraska the State Secretary will do no less, but the State Committee will do much more. In Tennessee the work is prosecuted with care and vigor under the leadership of an efficient State Committee and State Secretary. Marked progress has been made in Georgia; an efficient State Committee is in charge, with sufficient money subscribed for another year's work, with a State Secretary.

I delivered the anniversary addresses of the Associations at Memphis, Tenn., and Beatrice and Kearney, Neb.; and made public addresses for the Associations at Colorado Springs, Manitou Springs, and Pueblo, Col.; East St.

Louis, Pennsylvania College, Gettysburg, Pa., and Midland College, Atchison, Kan.

No service during the year afforded me more satisfaction and promised more for the future, than the county convention held at Edgefield, S. C. It began on Saturday evening with one of the most impressive meetings I ever attended, and in this meeting the most solid testimony was given by responsible business men of the good work that had been done for the young men in the county. The services on Sunday were very complete in their interest and results. At the young men's meeting in the afternoon, twenty-five fine-looking young men rose for prayer, and a number of them accepted Christ in the after meeting. The topics were well discussed. The paper on "County Work," read by a lawyer, was excellent, and will be published in the minutes of the convention, and will be a great help to the work. The convention seemed like a miniature State Convention. A good county committee was appointed, with headquarters in Edgefield, the county town, where a working quorum, including the officers, resides. The author of the paper referred to was made chairman of the committee; the strongest financial man of the place was made treasurer, and chairman of the finance committee; and the editor of the county paper was made secretary. It was determined by the committee to raise $1,000 to prosecute for the year a true county work. This county is noted as one of the most difficult in South Carolina for Christian work, and it is a very significant fact that it should be the first one in the great South to take up this important phase of Association effort. The International Committee's plan of systematic giving for Association extension was adopted by the convention for the Associations of the county. State Secretary Wynne was present at all the sessions of the convention, and did all he could to make it a success.

I am very thankful to God that he can yet use me in Association work, and that also with my efficient fellow workers under the direction of the International Committee.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THOMAS K. CREE,
Secretary.

During most of the past year my connection with the Committee has been but little more than a nominal one. In the Spring of 1890, I made a trip through some of the Southern States, visiting Chattanooga, Atlanta, Augusta, Savannah, Charleston, Columbia, West Point, Anniston, Birmingham, and other points, attending during this journey the State Conventions of South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, and Mississippi.

In May I started for Europe, where I remained until March of the present year. While abroad I visited Great Britain, Switzerland, Italy, and France.

In consultation with the Central International Committee at Geneva, and the National Committee of Great Britain, in London, a set of rules was prepared for the World's Conventions, which has since been approved and accepted by the various national organizations.

In Rome I had a meeting with the Italian brethren, and arranged for the employing of a secretary as soon as a man suitable for the position could be found; in Marseilles similar arrangements were made; and at Lyons I arranged to continue the local work, begun under a secretary, who was secured through a visit made a year before. As the result of a conference with the French

National Committee, the work is to be continued under a national secretary during the year.

Most of my time abroad was given to the Association work in Paris. The French Association in that city has admirable and centrally located rooms, employs three secretaries, has the use of a gymnasium with an instructor, and is doing a good work. It has a membership of over four hundred; its religious and social meetings, and its Bible and training classes are largely attended. Many Christian young men are being quickened, and not a few young men have been converted.

While in Paris, arrangements were made that have resulted in the purchase of a centrally located lot on Rue Trevisé, containing nearly 9000 square feet, at a cost of $112,500. The lot is within half a minute's walk of Rue Foubourg Montmartre, one of the great thoroughfares of the city, on which the present rooms are located, and within five minutes walk of the great Central Boulevard. Plans are being prepared for a building, modeled after the best American Association buildings. The title to the property will be vested in the "Societe Anonyme Immobiliere de l'Union," which will hold it in trust for the use of the Association. The generous gifts of Mr. James Stokes and members of his family have rendered possible the erection of this commodious building.

An outgrowth of the activities of the Paris Young Men's Christian Association has been the inauguration of other helpful movements in behalf of young men, and much good is being done by them. The Anglo-American Association is doing a good work for English-speaking young men; and new and successful efforts are being made in behalf of the large student class.

The helpful assistance given by the International Committee to Association work on the continent of Europe during the year, has resulted in much good. American friends have given generously and judiciously in money, while the members and agents of the Committee have given needed supervision. At the same time it has been done at no expense to the treasury of the Committee.

ANNUAL REPORT OF L. D. WISHARD,

Secretary.

Since my last report to the Committee, my work under the auspices of the Central International Committee has been pursued in Asia, my time being distributed as follows: Five and a half months in China, three and a half months in India, brief visits of about one week each in Colombo, Ceylon; Bangkok, Siam; and Rangoon, Burmah; and the balance in ocean travel. I am now spending three weeks in Egypt, after which I shall visit Syria and Turkey in Asia, and possibly Persia. I hope to reach Europe early in 1892, and may be able to resume my work in America by January, 1893, at the latest. Full reports of my work are found in my letters published in The Intercollegian, the Young Men's Era, and special circulars.

ANNUAL REPORT OF HENRY E. BROWN,

Secretary.

During the past year I have visited points between Lake Superior and the Pacific Ocean, and between British Columbia and Mexico.

I was present at the State Conventions of California, the Pacific Northwest and the Canadian Northwest, also the general conference of secretaries at Nashville, and State conferences of secretaries at San Diego and Portland. Daily opportunities were afforded in each convention for promoting an interest in Bible study. The personal relation to workers secured in conference and convention seems more and more important as the years go by.

I attended Institutes just organizing in temporary quarters in Minnesota, and on Puget Sound. The Association men of both regions are arranging for permanent grounds, and regular courses of study for future seasons. In these Institutes three hours, and a part of the evening, were devoted to studies in class. The remainder of the day was given to rest and recreation. The Bible heads the list of text books. The Association Hand-Book has a place in the course; also such practical studies as proof reading, leading vocal music and reading in public. Little effort is made to secure fine orators or large gatherings. Nearly all that attend these gatherings testify strongly to their great value in promoting fellowship among Association men, and in fitting them for better work in their several fields.

In nearly all the cities visited, special meetings of boards of directors have been secured for conference concerning the various Association interests. A great variety of questions have been considered in the meetings, such as the qualifications of a good member of the board; how to conduct a financial canvass; essential features of Association architecture; how, when, and where to secure a lot; business methods in Association work.

In many places young men are asking whether they should become general secretaries. Much time has been given to such men, singly and in groups, in order to call their attention to other fields, or to show them the preparation needed for this great work.

Considerable attention has been given to questions pertaining to the co-operation of women in Association effort. I find the secretaries anxious for it, and for such a committee as will foster and promote it. Tests are being made at several points of women's committees in charge of a number of special departments of work, with one member responsible for each.

The study of work for mechanics reported last year has been continued. I am thoroughly satisfied that in cities and States that contain large numbers of young men employed in factories and shops, mechanics are among the most important classes we can reach. It is very desirable that a thorough test of what can be done for them by the Associations should be made in some manufacturing State.

In the progress of our work toward best methods, one of the largest problems that confronts us is the financial question. In asking for money for local work it is found very important that we be able to show just how much is needed, and for what purposes; how much has been received and how spent; and what is the present financial condition.

I have found great need of some convenient, uniform method of classifying and recording the expenses and income of local Associations, by months and years, so as to show the exact present financial condition, and to preserve these records for easy comparison at any future time. I have, therefore, after consultation with many secretaries and accountants, prepared a plan for such a book, and have had sample pages ruled, with printed explanations, for distribution.

A few days near the close of the year were given to soliciting money for the work of the International Committee, resulting in several hundred dollars of pledges.

The following are encouraging facts concerning that part of the field to which I have given a large share of my time the past year :

Manitoba supports one full-Association work, and has money pledged for another. It has also a Provincial Secretary in the field, though it has but two cities of over 5,000 inhabitants each.

British Columbia has three cities of over 5,000 inhabitants, and three Associations with general secretaries, one building finished and paid for, and another being built.

Washington has three cities of over 10,000, three fully organized Associations, with general secretaries, one building finished, another being built, and money pledged for still another.

Let us thank God and take courage.

ANNUAL REPORT OF CLAUDS OLANDT, JR.,

Secretary of the German Department.

The past year has been indeed a "red letter" year, as far as visible results are concerned, in the work among German-speaking young men. In May, the Milwaukee German Branch dedicated a commodious building, valued at $16,000. I had given considerable time in assisting the canvass for the funds necessary to purchase this property. In November, a fine lot was purchased for $6,000, for the German Branch of Buffalo. Time and effort were given here. On the first day of January, a commodious building valued at $12,000, was dedicated at Baltimore. In helping to accomplish this, three months of my time, during various visits, were required. In Philadelphia the board of trustees of the Association has secured a property, and placed it at the disposal of the German Branch.

The employed force has grown from nine men, as reported last year, to fourteen. Four men are employed at St. Louis, two at New York, two at Buffalo, two at Baltimore, and one each at Milwaukee, Chicago, Philadelphia, and San Francisco. In addition, New York, Milwaukee and Baltimore also employ gymnasium teachers for part of their time.

I have devoted considerable attention to securing men as secretaries or assistants, and to aiding them to obtain preparation. Two young men are now in training for the work.

During the first week of 1890, the St. Louis German Branch dedicated and entered its new building with some 300 members. Before the year was ended its membership had grown to 800, and an assistant secretary and a gymnasium instructor had been employed. This was not all. In December, a second German Branch was organized, on the south side, three miles from the other. A secretary was employed February 1, 1891. This branch has already 250 members, and $3,000 pledged for a building. During last Summer I conferred with a number of the St. Louis men at Lake Geneva about the organization of this branch, and their securing a secretary, and in December, I spent a short time in St. Louis assisting in the matter.

I attended the General Secretaries' International Conference at Nashville, and in August, conferences for German-speaking Association friends, at Chicago and Buffalo.

During the past few weeks I have been unable, because of illness, to do much more than a little correspondence.

On January 1, 1891, I entered my tenth year of service with the Committee.

ANNUAL REPORT OF C. K. OBER,
Secretary.

Since my last report, I have given about five months to the College Department, and the balance of the year to general work.

I.—College Work:

I have visited seven colleges and universities; held conferences with student delegates at the North Carolina and Nebraska State Conventions; conducted, with Mr. Mott, conferences for the training of members of student deputations at Asheville, N. C., for the Southern States; Chicago, Ill., for the Western States; and Albany, N. Y., for the Eastern States and Canada, attended by over sixty carefully selected students; and assisted in arranging for and conducting the three summer conferences for college students at Northfield, Mass., Chautauqua, N. Y., and Lake Geneva, Wis.

I have also served as chairman of the students' committee for Mr. Sayford's work in the colleges, assisting in arranging his tour of visitation, and in securing the money to meet necessary expenses. Nearly a month, at different times during the year, was spent with Mr. Mott, in conference concerning the various departments of the college work, in perfecting arrangements for the Summer conferences, and in special preparation for the conferences with the student deputations.

In September I resigned my position as College Secretary to engage in general work.

II.—General Work:

1. In the West.—I have had several conferences at Indianapolis with the chairman and the secretary of the Indiana State Committee, relative to the general plan of State work, and the condition of the work at several points in that State. I also attended two parlor conferences on the subject of Association buildings, at New Albany and Evansville, Ind.

I spent two months in Nebraska, chiefly in Lincoln and Omaha, and in attendance at the State Convention. The visits to Lincoln had reference to the completion of the Association building, on which little work had been done for about a year. A special building committee was organized, a temporary loan effected, floating debts and past-due mortgage paid, work resumed on the building, several thousand dollars on building pledges collected, and thirteen hundred dollars in new pledges secured. In Omaha I advised the directors regarding their current expense and building finances, and assisted in securing about $4,000 for current expenses. I also attended two meetings of the Nebraska State Committee.

In my work at both Lincoln and Omaha, Mr. Nash, the State Secretary, co-operated to the fullest extent consistent with obligations elsewhere in the State.

2. In the South.—I have met with the State Committees of North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, and Tennessee; have attended the North Carolina and Georgia State Conventions; directors' meetings and parlor conferences in the interests of the local work in Asheville, N. C., Columbia, S. C., Atlanta, Savannah, Macon and Rome, Ga., and Selma and Montgomery, Ala. I have also visited the Associations at Charleston, S. C.; Knoxville, Chattanooga and Memphis, Tenn.; Birmingham, Ala.; Meridian, Jackson and Vicksburg, Miss.; and Little Rock and Hot Springs, Ark.

In conference with the State Committees of Alabama and Mississippi, I arranged for their State Conventions and secured the services of F. L. Willis, of Waterbury, Conn., for two months of State work in Alabama, and one month in Mississippi, previous to the conventions.

I attended the county convention at Edgefield, S. C.; assisted in raising $6,500 for the Association building at the University of Tennessee at Knoxville; and corresponded with representatives of the Associations in Florida and Louisiana.

3. I have given about two weeks to correspondence and personal interviews with friends of, and contributors to, the international work.

III.—Work for Young Men in Foreign Lands.

1. In May I prepared and read at the Conference of General Secretaries at Nashville a paper on "Young Men's Christian Associations and Foreign Missions," which has since been published in pamphlet form by the Committee.

2. In September I attended, with other representatives of the International Committee, a conference with the Kansas State Committee at Topeka, on the relation of the Associations to work in foreign lands.

3. I have given some time to the study of the field and the history of missions, chiefly in the relation of this subject to the extension of Association work in foreign mission lands, and have corresponded with Mr. Wishard, and with representatives of foreign missionary enterprises at home and in the foreign field.

ANNUAL REPORT OF P. AUGUSTUS WIETING,

Secretary.

My time during the past year has been spent almost entirely at the general office, and has been employed mainly in correspondence and in the composition and preparation of matter for printing.

The work at this point seems to have been heavier and more exacting than in any previous year since the Committee's headquarters were located in New York, in 1866. The office, as the source of a great variety of information on Association work and history, is being appreciated more and more, if the constantly increasing use made of it in this respect is any evidence. The thousands of letters and hundreds of visitors received every year at headquarters come on errands of inquiry concerning every phase and department of the work. Much of the information sought or assistance rendered can be found at no other place nor be supplied by any other agency.

The correspondence has, as usual, been a very important item of office work, over two hundred thousand written and printed letters having been received and mailed during the year.

The customary annual statistical reports asked of the Associations have been received and carefully compiled. The result of this is seen in the various tables and lists given in the Year Book for 1891.

The "Year Book" for 1890 was issued June 6th; the "Topics for Young Men's Meetings and Bible Classes" for 1891, December 10th; and "The Intercollegian" near the 10th of each month during the college year. In addition to these regular publications, a number of new pamphlets on Association work have been issued and new editions of several old publications have been printed. Among the new publications are: "A Word about Bible Study in our Associations" (R. R. McBurney); "Work for Young Men in Foreign Lands" (E. F. See); "The Work Among German-speaking Young Men—Its Condition and Needs" (C. Olandt, Jr.); "The Physical Directorship of the Young Men's Christian Association as a Life Work" (Luther Gulick); "Young Men's Christian Associations and Foreign Missions" (C. K. Ober); "The Influence and Relationships of the Young Men's Christian Association" (R. C. Morse); "How can the College Associations awaken and maintain interest in Bible Study?" (J. R. Mott); "The Fall Campaign; or, How to Reach New Students" (J. R. Mott); "The Study of the English Bible in Colleges" (Prof. George S. Burroughs); "By-laws for Railroad Departments."

In addition to the above pamphlets, there has been issued a Statistical Record for College Associations, and a revised edition of Record Blanks for Association Gymnasiums. Both of these blanks were very much needed, and will prove of great value to Associations in collecting and preserving statistics. The demand for the Committee's publications is increasing from year to year, and the call for papers on subjects not fully treated by any of the present documents is a very difficult one to answer.

This report deals with only a department or two of the office work. A knowledge of the contents of the reports of the other secretaries at the office is needed in addition to give one a fair idea of the variety and extent of the efforts put forth at this point.

I attended the Secretaries' Conference at Nashville, a private local conference in Jersey City, and visited a number of Associations at different times.

ANNUAL REPORT OF JOHN R. MOTT, College Secretary.

During the past year my time and attention has been devoted almost entirely to the colleges. My work has taken me into nearly every State east of the Missouri River and north of the Gulf States, as well as into all the Maritime Provinces and Upper Canada, and has necessitated 31,000 miles of travel.

I.—Visitation. Only fourteen weeks have been spent in visiting Associations. Thirty-eight institutions were reached. This includes all but one of the College Associations of Canada, and leading institutions in ten States. Associations were formed at two important centers of learning, viz.: Prince of Wales College on Prince Edward Island, and the French Protestant College at Springfield, Mass. In a majority of cases my visits to colleges have been to meet special emergencies, or to inaugurate a more comprehensive policy. It has been necessary to decline scores of urgent invitations from colleges and State Committees because of lack of time, or more pressing demands.

During the year I have rendered special service to eight city Associations,

II.—Conventions. Over five months have been given to twenty-three conventions, conferences and summer schools. This is more than double the time spent in such gatherings in any previous year. This plan has been adopted as the only way to touch the rapidly extending field. At three college conferences held in the Maritime Provinces, Virginia and New England respectively; at the State Conventions of Illinois, Kansas, Missouri, Indiana, Ohio, and Iowa; and at the district conference held at Williamsport, Pa., I met with 1,060 students, representing 168 colleges. At each of these gatherings a close and comparative study of the religious condition of the colleges represented was made, special problems were treated, and a policy for the College Associations of the State, Province, or section for the coming year was outlined, explained and emphasized. Although the larger part of my time in such conventions was occupied in connection with the student work, still much was spent in the interest of other phases of Association work.

I have assisted in conducting three intercollegiate deputation conferences. Considerable time has been taken in planning for, helping to conduct, and follow up the Student Summer Schools at Northfield, Chautauqua, and Lake Geneva. In each of the following gatherings I have had some special work to perform: conferences of general secretaries; conference of secretaries of the Young Women's Christian Association; Canadian intercollegiate missionary alliance convention; international convention of the student volunteer movement; General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church. I also attended the missionary conference and the missionary convention held at Indianapolis. Several meetings of the college committee were attended and interviews in the interest of the work were held from time to time with Messrs. Ober and White.

III.—Matters Receiving Special Attention. 1. Publication.—As a result of a demand from all parts of the college field, a series of pamphlets on different phases of the college work is being prepared. Three weeks of my time was spent at the historical library and the office of the International Committee in writing the following pamphlets:

- (1.) The Fall Campaign.
- (2.) How can the College Associations Awaken and Maintain interest in Bible Study?
- (3.) College Association Buildings.
- (4.) How to Secure a College Association Building.
- (5.) The Claims of the General Secretaryship on Men of Education and Ability.

Most of these pamphlets are still in press.

2. College Association Buildings.—Buildings are being erected at Dartmouth, the University of Tennessee, the University of Iowa, the University of California, Davidson College, and Syracuse University. In about twenty other institutions, building canvasses have been started within the last twelve months. By visitation or correspondence I have helped in the inauguration or promotion of several of them. The rapid increase in momentum of this building movement is certainly very marked.

3. Intercollegiate Deputations.—Probably the most important development in the college department during the year has been the intercollegiate deputation plan. The inability of the International and State Secretaries to adequately cover the college field, suggested to Mr. Ober and myself the idea of enlisting, training, and sending out at least one deputation of two under graduate students in each State, to work among the colleges of their respective States. These deputations are selected by the State and International Secretaries. They are instructed and trained at conferences, conducted by secretaries of the International Committee. They are directed in the work among the colleges by the State Committees. Last April Mr. Ober and myself conducted three of these deputation conferences—in the South, West and East respectively, and twenty-nine deputations from twenty-two States and Provinces were thoroughly trained. Most encouraging reports have come to us from the States where the deputations have been at work. The plan itself has been heartily re-indorsed in every State where it has been employed.

4. Extension of the Intercollegiate Movement.—The policy of the year has been one not only of thorough organization, but also of judicious extension. The number of College Associations has increased during the year from 302 to 345. This increase is due very largely to the direct and indirect influence of the international college work. Mr. White's effort in the southwest has been the strongest direct element. The influence of the Committee's secretaries at conventions and at the deputation conferences has been the leading indirect factor in this progress.

5. Student Summer Schools.—Fully six weeks of my time were spent in connection with the three student summer schools. The meeting at Northfield was attended by 417 students from 117 institutions, and was even more representative than before. Students were present from France, Germany, and Scandinavia for the first time. The delegation from the British universities was an able one, as was also the Japanese contingent. The Chautauqua meeting, although not largely attended, has exerted a helpful influence on all the institutions represented. The conference held at Lake Geneva, Wis., was attended by 126 students from 61 colleges. It was thoroughly successful and has exerted a powerful influence upon the college work of the entire West. The Northfield idea is spreading rapidly among the students of the world. During the last twelve months Northfield has multiplied itself sevenfold. Similar gatherings of students were held, not only at Lake Geneva and Chautauqua, but also in Great Britain, Scandinavia, Germany, Japan, and Ceylon. These summer schools constitute one of the most potent agencies in broadening, strengthening, and extending the organized Christian work among students.

6. Student Volunteer Movement.—I have continued to represent the College Young Men's Christian Associations on the executive committee of the Student Volunteer Movement. Meetings of that committee have been attended on an average of once a month. Time has been taken to present the work to the secretaries of church missionary boards in order to secure their invaluable counsel regarding many problems. A series of pamphlets has been issued in order to promote the development of the movement and to enlist the intelligent co-operation of the churches. I have directed the tour of W. H. Cossum, the travelling secretary of the movement, among our College Associations. In nearly one hundred institutions that he has visited, he has not only stimulated the legitimate missionary work of the Association, but has also exerted a marked influence upon other phases of its life and activity. Special effort was put forth in arranging for and conducting the first international convention of this movement, held at Cleveland, Ohio, in the latter part of February. At least 600 students from 159 institutions, and over 100 foreign missionaries and secretaries of missionary societies, etc., were in attendance. It was the largest, most representative, and, in many respects, the most significant student convention ever held. It clearly defined the volunteer movement in the mind of the Church, and will mark an epoch in the history of the movement.

7. Special Religious Work Among Students.—Since September I have facilitated the movements of S. M. Sayford among the colleges. He has visited fifteen institutions and attended three conventions. His peculiar and invaluable work has been that of promoting a higher standard of living among inconsistent Christian students. The great importance of this work is seen from the very strong words of endorsement that have come from both students and members of faculties wherever he has been. Over 4,000 young men during a little over two years have taken the higher ground stand. This has led to revivals in all but two of the institutions that he has touched this year. Within that time along the pathway of his work have been over 200 conversions.

The great increase in organized personal work is one of the most striking and encouraging signs in this field. The unusual number of revivals in connection with the College Associations is very noteworthy. There is good reason to believe that more students have been led to become followers of Jesus Christ this college year than during any one year in the history of American and Canadian colleges.

ANNUAL REPORT OF JOHN R. HAGUE,

Secretary.

1. During the year, ninety-nine visits were made to 63 Associations, principally located in the Western States and in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. Of these Associations, 15 were railroad, 1 college, 1 colored, and 46 general. Many conferences were held with secretaries, members of committees, and business men; and 18 meetings of boards of directors, 8 meetings of committees of local Associations, and 6 State and Provincial Committee meetings were attended.

2. At the time of my last annual report aid was being rendered the Kansas City (Mo.) Association in replacing the loan upon its building and in raising money to cover the floating indebtedness. Since then I have aided in raising $30,000, in building fund or other canvasses, at Lincoln, Neb., Indianapolis and Evansville, Ind., Louisville, Ky., and Lexington, Mo., and for the Railroad Associations at Slater, Mo., and Elkhart, Ind. Assistance was also given in raising money for Provincial work in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, and for international work, in Boston, New York, Brooklyn, and elsewhere.

3. Counsel has been given in planning new buildings or rooms, or in securing lots, for Associations in 16 cities or towns, and 2 Railroad Associations.

4. Conventions and conferences have been attended and participated in as follows: annual convention of the Maritime Provinces and conference of the general secretaries of the same, and a college conference, all at New Glasgow, N.S.; also a conference of Association men and secretarial candidates, upon the steamer at close of said convention; three local conferences at Truro, N.S.; St. John, N.B.; and Lexington, Mo.; one district conference at Warsaw, Ind.; the General Secretaries' Conference at Nashville, Tenn.; the International Committee dinner meetings in New York and Brooklyn, and the annual meeting of International Secretaries held in connection with the same.

5. Indianapolis was aided in preparing a new constitution, and a number of Associations in securing secretaries.

6. In January a number of visits was made to the Pratt Institute, Brooklyn, N. Y., and a study made of its admirable methods and work, with a view to securing helpful suggestion for the use in the educational department of the Associations, and with the design of making this department more efficient in reaching a greater number of mechanics and other young men. Since then this work has been laid before, and counsel had with, several of the International Secretaries, as well as general secretaries in the larger cities. The entire time of a competent secretary could be well occupied in this department.

7. While engaged as already mentioned, aid was given Associations in the spiritual work, as follows: 37 men's meetings have been led or addressed; 10 Bible classes conducted; 14 gospel addresses, and 13 addresses on various phases of Association work have been made to general audiences in conventions or churches; and through personal work a number of young men have been led to begin Christian lives.

ANNUAL REPORT OF S. A. TAGGART,

Secretary.

A little over one year has passed since the effort of investigating a plan known as the work of Special Extension was begun. In some places it has been called the work of Systematic Giving. This correctly describes in part its object. But if the purpose only was to cultivate in the members the habit of systematic giving, without any particular application of its resultant benefits, or the devotion of them to the support of local or miscellaneous objects, then it might be more properly called by that name. The plan is distinguished by three features. Two of them are educational, and the third is the practical application of these two.

They are, (1) the education of the members in regard to the work of the agencies for Association extension, such as the International and State Committees, together with any other line of effort common to the Associations, and put forth with the approval of the International or State Conventions; (2) the education of the members in the habit of systematic giving; cultivating within them the grace of giving, by scriptural teaching, and other proper methods; (3) the establishing of a fund to be known as the Extension Fund, to which contributions shall be made, the same to be divided and appropriated by the board of directors, to the agencies of extension already named.

While systematic giving is one of the very important features of this plan, it is only one of three, all of which are vital to its proper prosecution. Systematic giving can be cultivated among the members, without any reference to our home and foreign extension work, and be properly called a plan of systematic giving. It was suggested that in the beginning of such a movement a comprehensive name be given to it, and the best term proposed seems to be, The Work of Special Extension.

ASSOCIATION BUILDING, OMAHA, NEB.,
CORNER SIXTEENTH AND DOUGLAS STREETS. OCCUPIED, NOVEMBER 19, 1889.
Dimensions, 68x130 feet. Cost, $115,000. Population in 1889, 110,000

During the year, the members of twenty Associations, where the plan was initiated, have been addressed, viz.: Cleveland, Cincinnati, Dayton, and Akron, O.; Pittsburgh, and East Liberty Branch, Pittsburgh, Pa.; New York (Twenty-third Street Branch); Brooklyn, and Brooklyn, E. D.; Utica, Syracuse, Buffalo, and Cortland, N. Y.; Baltimore, and East Branch, Baltimore; Providence, New Haven, Wheeling, Washington, and Wilmington, Del.

Fourteen other Associations have been visited, and the members addressed. Assurances have been given in each place of an early initiation of the plan. The places are Boston, Portland, Me.; Auburn, Albany, Rome, and Oneida, N. Y.; Bridgeport and Meriden, Conn.; Covington, Ky.; Sandusky and Findlay, O.; Erie, Williamsport, and Sharpsburg, Pa.

At Geneva, Clifton Springs, and Binghamton, N. Y.; Hartford and Stamford, Conn.; Scranton and Harrisburg, Pa.; and Canton, O., conferences have been held either with the board of directors or general secretary or both, about the plan of extension, and it has met with favorable consideration.

The State Conventions of Maine, New Hampshire, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, Maryland, New York, and New Jersey have been addressed upon the subject, as well as the district meetings at Yonkers, N. Y., and McKeesport, Pa. At each of the State Conventions a resolution of recommendation was passed. In Wisconsin and New Jersey sub-committees of the State Committees have been appointed to co-operate.

While it is too soon to reckon with exactness upon the tangible results, it is known that several hundred givers, contributing for the most part in small amounts, have been enlisted, and a line of education has been begun that will only need a faithful prosecution in order to show the most gratifying results.

In this work of investigation two things are brought out clearly: (1.) At every point visited there was a response among the members sufficiently encouraging to warrant the initiation of the work without delay. This was surprising, and goes to show that as far as the members are concerned, the plan is now beyond the stage of experiment; (2.) The chief, if not the only difficulty, has been to elaborate a good working plan. Directors and secretaries have been naturally slow to take upon themselves the additional responsibility involved in selecting and enlisting the suitable men needed for committees to look after the right execution of the plan. In other words, the willingness of the members to co-operate is waiting for enlistment and organization.

In addition to the work in the interests of the extension plan about six weeks were given to more general work, in Texas, and in attendance upon the General Secretaries' Conference, at Nashville. Some time was spent also in Kentucky, and at Cleveland, Springfield, and Dayton, O., Germantown, Pa., and a few days at a State encampment of Association workers, at Hampton, Va.

ANNUAL REPORT OF CECIL L. GATES,

Secretary of the Railroad Department.

My work for the past year has included, first, efforts preliminary, or preparatory, to the inauguration of railroad department work in the West; second, the establishment of new departments; third, assistance to existing departments; fourth, attendance at conferences, conventions, and anniversaries.

(1.) Preliminary work—including visitation of officials, the presentation of the details of Railroad Association work, promoting an intelligent interest among railroad men, preparing estimates and plans for rooms, buildings, and work, and securing subscriptions toward the same—has been done at Eagle Grove, Ia., Grand Island and North Platte, Neb.; Ellis, Kan.; Como and Pueblo, Col.; Cheyenne, Laramie and Rock Springs, Wyo.; Montpelier and Glenn's Ferry, Idaho; Lima, Mont.; Huntington, La Grande, Unatilla, and Pendleton, Ore.; and Tekoa, Wash. Much similar work has been done in other places as casual opportunities allowed.

(2.) Railroad departments have been established at Grand Island and North Platte, Neb.; Ellis, Kan.; Como, Col.; Cheyenne, Laramie, and Rock Springs, Wyo.; Montpelier and Glenn's Ferry, Idaho; Lima, Mont.; Huntington, Ore., and Tekoa, Wash.—all upon the lines of the Union Pacific Railway, and supported by that company. This has included the selection of locations for rooms and buildings, and their fitting and furnishing; the calling of general secretaries, and the development of a general and uniform system of work, which is now in successful operation.

(3.) Assistance in financial work, and in arrangements for improved service has been rendered at Salem, Mass.; Marshalltown and Sioux City, Ia.; Columbus, Ohio; Elkhart, Ind.; St. Thomas, Ont.; Milwaukee, Wis.; Rawlins, Wyo.; Pocatello, Idaho; and Ogden, Utah. Casual visitation and correspondence in connection with the same kind of work at several other points need not be specified.

(4.) I have attended the Maine and Iowa State Conventions, presenting the railroad work at each, and have also attended the annual conferences of the general secretaries of the above States, and the International Conference of Secretaries at Nashville; and have been present at the anniversaries of departments and Associations, at St. Thomas, Ont.; Sioux Falls, South Dakota; Marshalltown, Ia.; Cleveland, Ohio; Pocatello, Idaho; Rawlins, Wyo., and Buffalo, N. Y.

Much of the year has been spent upon the lines of the Union Pacific Railway, which now has fourteen flourishing departments in operation, with several others to be opened at an early date. Three buildings have been erected, and five remodeled and set aside for the work by this corporation. My work upon the Union Pacific system has been a continuation of that so well begun by my predecessor, H. F. Williams.

In connection with the work of the year I have made 160 visits to 56 towns in 22 States and Territories; participating in the formal exercises of 40 convention, anniversary and religious services. I have had 101 conferences upon various phases of Association work, with committees, boards, of directors, secretaries, and railroad officials; and have traveled over 46,000 miles.

The record of the year's work is submitted, realizing many deficiencies in the service rendered, but realizing, also, the gracious presence and help of the Holy Spirit in his over-ruling and energizing power.

ANNUAL REPORT OF CLARENCE J. HICKS,
Secretary of the Railroad Department.

During the past year most of my time has been given to the Railroad Department. At the time of my last report, I was engaged in work preliminary to the organization of a Railroad Department in Cincinnati. Through the co-operation of four of the railroads centering there, a building was fitted up at a central point, where a very successful work has been carried on during the past year, under the direction of the Cincinnati Association. Fine quarters have also been reserved in the new depot now being erected, where it is expected that another department will soon be opened, especially for men in the passenger service.

One encouraging development of the railroad work the past year has been along the line of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad. In May, a personal inspection was made of each division point on this line, from Covington, Ky., to Newport News, Va., and following this, considerable time was spent at Covington in organizing a Railroad Department. This department occupies a building owned by the railroad company, and situated so as to reach the employés of the Chesapeake and Ohio, and Kentucky Central Railroads. An appropriation has been secured toward the support of the Railroad Association at Newport News, Va., a site for a building at Clifton Forge, Va., and one-half the amount needed to erect a building at Hinton, W. Va., each a division point on this line.

In November, at the request of an official of the road, four division points on the Queen and Crescent system were visited, and estimates prepared showing the cost of establishing Association work at each. No further action has as yet been taken on this line.

Several visits have been made during the year to the Columbus, O., Railroad Association, which has recently moved into new quarters, and is now provided with the facilities it has so long needed to enable it to reach the railroad men of that important railroad center.

Several visits have also been made to Louisville, Ky., and some aid given to both the city and Railroad Associations at that point.

In October, I attended the opening of the new building at Toronto, Ont., the first Railroad Association building erected in Canada, and have since made a trip to Montreal in the interest of the Toronto work.

Some time was spent in Chicago in studying the railroad situation there.

A large number of calls upon railroad officials has taken much time, both in Chicago and New York City. The uniform interest on the part of railroad officials, whenever the work has been presented to them, has been very encouraging, since without their cordial support but little progress could be made.

Visits have been made, conferences held, and aid given at a large number of places where the organization of new work is contemplated, and it is hoped that during the coming year plans already made may be carried out, and Associations established at some of these points.

At no place is such work more needed than at Staples, Minn., a division point on the Northern Pacific, and $1200 has already been secured in personal subscriptions toward the erection of an Association building for the use of the railroad employés there.

A large correspondence has been carried on, as the only means of keeping in close touch with each of the railroad secretaries, and of gathering facts concerning the condition of the work.

As a step towards securing greater uniformity in the organization of the railroad work, a careful compilation has been made of by-laws found most helpful in the government of the department work, and these have recently been published by the International Committee. This and other lines of office work has taken considerable time, although a large share of it has been done while traveling.

For the growth of the railroad work the past year, much credit is due to the State and local secretaries, who have in many ways rendered valuable assistance.

I represented the Committee at the State Conventions of Michigan, Pennsylvania, Indiana, Virginia, and Kentucky, and in May attended the Secretaries' Conference at Nashville, Tenn.

At various times during the year I visited the University of Wisconsin, and assisted the Association of that institution in a canvass in different parts of the State for funds for the erection of a College Association building. I made several trips to Indiana, and while there aided the State Committee, and the Indianapolis Association. I met and advised with several State Committees and boards of directors, and in these and other ways assisted in different lines of Association work.

During the year I have traveled many thousands of miles, and worked in sixteen different States and Provinces.

REPORT OF J. CAMPBELL WHITE,

Secretary.

Visitation and Organization.—Since entering the service of the Committee, last September, I have been engaged almost entirely in college work. In aiding and organizing Associations, 55 institutions in 12 States have been visited, 1 to 3 days being spent at each point. In nearly every one of these institutions a more thoroughly organized committee service has been inaugurated. Missionary interest has been aroused in many places by the presentation of the claims of the foreign field on college students, and quite a number have been influenced to devote their lives to that form of service. Several hundred students have been led, during the year, to the daily, systematic study of the word of God. Although old Associations have claimed most of my attention, time has been found to launch the first organized Christian work in several very important institutions. New Associations were formed at Parker College, Winnebago City, Minn.; Kalamazoo College, Kalamazoo, Mich.; Austin College, Sherman, Tex.; State University, Austin, Tex.; Add 'Ran College, Thorp's Springs, Tex.; Mississippi College, Clinton, Miss.; and Searcy College, Searcy, Ark.

Conventions.—I have attended the State Conventions of Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Dakota, and the Student Volunteer Convention at Cleveland. At each of the State meetings, in addition to the presentation of the college work in the convention, a separate conference of students was held, and, after carefully ascertaining just what had been done during the past year, the weak points of that work were presented, and the means of strengthening them emphasized. Such comparison and discussion were found very helpful in stimulating and broadening the work in the colleges represented.

REPORT OF W. A. HUNTON,
Secretary.

I was engaged during the greater part of the past year at Norfolk, Va., as general secretary of the colored Young Men's Christian Association of that city, and in conducting correspondence with other colored Associations for the International Committee; while five months of the year were devoted to traveling as a special agent of the Committee.

I attended the International Conference of General Secretaries, at Nashville, the Massachusetts and Rhode Island Convention, at Haverhill; and the annual dinner meeting of the International Committee, in New York.

I have visited, in some cases twice, twenty-five college and local Associations in Virginia, North and South Carolina, Tennessee, Kentucky, Ohio, Pennsylvania, District of Columbia, and West Virginia; and have kept up active correspondence with these and twelve other Associations in other parts of the South. Three special visits were made for the purpose of interviewing young men that were looking forward to the general secretaryship.

Special attention has been given and much time devoted to the development of the work at Norfolk and Richmond, Va., and at Nashville, Tenn. At the last mentioned place active preparations are now being made to secure a qualified general secretary and the commencement of a full Association work among the colored young men of that city.

The Association work among colored young men has not grown very rapidly. Until very recently, efforts to promote it were almost wholly confined to our colleges and universities. This work has been very helpful however, as a part of the Christian work carried on in those schools, and has been the means of sending to our cities and towns educated men of all trades and professions that are more or less qualified to direct Association work among their fellows. With patient, prayerful effort, hearty co-operation, and liberal assistance, each succeeding year will greatly increase the strength and usefulness of our Associations.

ANNUAL REPORT OF LUTHER GULICK.

During the past year I have attended for the Committee four conventions and conferences, finding work at each of them in connection with the physical department, both in public addresses and in conferring with committees. I have given considerable time to the preparation of a systematic explanatory statement of the physical department of Association work, to be printed as a chapter of the "Hand-book" on Association work. I have just completed a small volume to be used in connection with the Association Gymnasium Record blanks, published by the Committee, giving detailed directions for their use, and showing the value of the measurements to the persons measured, as it has not been shown before. Considerable has been done in the tabulation of anthropometric statistics sent in by the Associations using these blanks, and I expect soon to be able to make definite returns to the Associations that have so co-operated. The blanks have now been used for two years by many leading Associations, and have been thoroughly tested. Some of those using them desired more details; others felt that, in order to save time, a simpler examination would be advantageous. To meet these requirements they have been carefully revised, and two blanks have been prepared, one shorter and the other longer than the former one.

The correspondence carried on may be divided into the following classes:

1. The investigation of men that desired to become physical directors of Associations. This work is perhaps as valuable in the keeping out of undesirable men as in the securing of desirable ones.
2. With thirty-three Associations regarding physical directors; seven men were referred to positions that they eventually took.
3. Fitting up gymnasiums, apparatus, bathing facilities, athletic grounds, conduct of field days, gymnasium exhibitions, and so on.
4. Concerning the Association Gymnasium Record Blanks.
5. In regard to courses of reading. Many that look forward to entering the work are desirous of carrying on beneficial reading. I have been of some assistance to such men.

The most promising indication of the year has been the manifestly higher standard as to the character and training of physical directors required by the Associations.

ANNUAL REPORT OF J. T. BOWNE,
Custodian of The Historical Library.

The Library contained February 28, 1891, bound volumes, 828; unbound volumes of reports and periodicals, 1,035; making a total of 1,863. Photographs of conference groups, etc., 215.

During the year catalogues of the Association publications and of the general library were completed, and the classified index referred to in the last report was enlarged so as to cover all American Association periodicals of a general character from 1854 to date. It is hoped soon to have it include the leading British Association periodicals, and the reports of all International and State Conventions.

With the assistance of Prof. Melvil Dewey, of the State Library, Albany, N. Y., we have during the year extended No. 267 of his "Decimal Classification for Libraries," so as to provide, we believe, for all present and future publications of our Associations. The extensions referred to cover about four pages in the fourth edition of this valuable work just published by the Library Bureau of Boston.

PUBLICATIONS OF YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATIONS.

These are now received in fourteen languages.

Periodicals came regularly during the year as follows: from Canada 10, United States 157, Great Britain 24, Continental Europe 15, Australia and elsewhere 12; making a total of 218. From kindred societies 24. Several new English and German papers were added. James Hughes, Traveling Secretary of France, aided in nearly completing our file of 20 volumes of "L'Esperance," the official organ of the French Unions; an unknown friend in Norway furnished 10 volumes of "Den Unges Ven," the organ of the Norwegian Associations; and Karl Fries of Stockholm, "Ynglinga-Tidning," the organ of the Swedish Associations, for 1877-78.

Reports.—In addition to a large number received from various countries, Dr. Eugene Herrmann of Buchholz, Saxony, has placed us under special obligation for several lots of rare reports from Germany. He has probably the largest collection of Association publications in Continental Europe, and would appreciate contributions from any of the American Associations.

Manuscripts.—The valuable contribution of original letters bearing upon the work of the Confederated Associations in America, 1854–1859, received from Rev. William Chauncy Langdon, D. D., last year, has been recently supplemented by a similar gift from his co-laborer Wm. J. Rhees, chief clerk of the Smithsonian Institution, Washington, consisting of letter-press copies of his general Association correspondence, 1859-66, covering the very interesting period of the Civil War.

Photographs—Among the 34 added, may be noted Association groups of N. A. Indians, Japanese, East Indians, Ceylonese and South Africans. The fine pictures of the delegates attending the College Students Bible Conferences at Kyoto and Tokyo, Japan, claim a prominent place.

PUBLICATIONS OF OTHER SOCIETIES OF YOUNG MEN.

Considerable attention has been given to the development of this department, believing that many Association workers would be glad to ascertain through it what is being done in kindred organizations.

Religious Societies.—After a persistent search of several years, we have at last succeeded in finding two very valuable books bearing upon the work of the Young Men's Societies that originated in the Church of England about 1678: "An Account of the Rise and Progress of the Religious Societies in the City of London . . . and of the endeavors for the Reformation of Manners which have been made therein"—By Josiah Woodward, D.D., London, 1698: and "An Account of the Societies for Reformation of Manners in England and Ireland, with a persuasion to persons of all ranks to be zealous and diligent in promoting the execution of the Laws against Profaneness and Debauchery, for the effecting a National Reformation" . . . London, 1699. The methods of these societies were introduced into New England as early as 1705, and an interesting letter describing the work at Taunton, Mass., that year, was recently discovered in the Prince Library, Boston. The "Young Men Associated," referred to by Dr. Cotton Mather in his "Essays to do Good," in 1710, may have been suggested by these organizations.

Alfred Sandham, of Toronto, has again placed us under obligations by the gift of two rare papers of the Nasmith Movement—a printed copy of the Constitution and By-Laws of the Montreal Young Men's Society, with the Report for 1832, and an original letter from Thomas Fletcher, Corresponding Secretary of the American Young Men's Society in New York, to the Secretary of the Young Men's Society at York (now Toronto), dated March 5, 1832. The American Young Men's Society was the central organization for the propagation of the Nasmith Societies in the United States and Canada, bearing much the same relation to them as our International Committee does to the Young Men's Christian Associations. The letter throws much light upon the extent of this movement in America at that date.

Several additions have been made to the publications of religious societies in American colleges prior to the organization of our College Associations.

The General Council of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, in the Episcopal Church, furnished a full set of their current publications, as did also the Council of the Brotherhood of Andrew and Philip, recently organized in the Reformed and Presbyterian Churches.

The Polytechnic Young Men's Christian Institute of London, by J. E. K. Studd, furnished a complete set, 15 volumes, of "The Polytechnic Young Men's Magazine"; The Church of Ireland Young Men's Society of Belfast, its reports, 1884-89; The Young Men's Friendly Society of England, a full set of its publications; The Edinburgh Sabbath Morning Fellowship Union, its reports, 1861 to date; The Glasgow Foundry Boys' Religious Society, its reports for 14 years; James Anderson, of Glasgow, the original Book of Rules of a Fellowship Association organized in that city in 1819; also the annual reports of the Glasgow Young Men's Society for Religious Improvement, 1866-76; Dr. J. G. Lehmann, of Hamburg, complete files of "Wort und Werk," the organ of the Baptist Yunglings Verein of Germany, 1881 to date; The Young Men's Hebrew Associations in New York and Boston, annual reports and other publications; The Catholic Young Men's National Union, reports of their national conventions, 1883 to date.

Secular Societies.—Proceedings of Annual Congress of Workingmen's Clubs, 1887 to date; Young Men's Benevolent Society of Boston, by Hon. F. W. Lincoln, annual reports, 1849 to date.

MISCELLANEOUS PUBLICATIONS.

We were fortunate in recently securing full reports of the World's Conferences of the Evangelical Alliance, 1846-18.9—7 large volumes, and reports of the International Sunday-School Conventions, 1872 to date. Last year mention was made of our large collection of papers showing fully the work of the U. S. Christian Commission during the war of 1861-65. To these we have since added two volumes illustrating the religious work in the Confederate armies during the same period: "Christ in the Camp, or Religion in Lee's Army," by Rev. Dr. J. William Jones, and "A Narrative of the Great Revival which Prevailed in the Southern Armies during the late Civil War," by Rev. Dr. Wm. W. Bennett, the former being the gift of the author. "Un Souvenir de Solferino," by J. Henry Dunant, of Geneva, has also been added. This little book led to the International Congress at Geneva, in 1863, which resulted in an international "Treaty for the Amelioration of the Condition of Wounded Soldiers of Armies in the Field."

The United States Bureau of Education furnished a complete set of the annual reports of the Commissioner of Education, 1871-88, 18 volumes; Dyer Brothers, of London, files of "The Sentinel," the leading British organ of social purity, 1887 to date.

PUBLICATIONS OF YOUNG WOMEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATIONS.

The American organizations, international, State and local, have very generally sent to us their current publications, and the Young Women's Christian Association of London presented a set of its annual reports for 30 years, and 3 volumes of its periodicals.

Several large lots of duplicates were received, and special thanks are returned to the American Antiquarian Society of Worcester, Mass.; H. S. Conant, Providence, R. I.; W. F. Comer, Malden, Mass.; Allen Folger, Concord, N. H.; and John B. Reese, Athens, Ga. A number of librarians in different sections of the country have proposed to make our Library a national clearing house for Association duplicates. So far as time will permit we shall be glad to undertake the distribution of such matter among the libraries needing it.

Very hearty thanks are returned to secretaries and other friends that have regularly mailed the publications of their societies to us, and we solicit a continuance of such favors. The Library is the property of the American Associations, and we hope each secretary will show his interest by placing it upon the Association's mailing list.

It has been gratifying to notice the increasing interest in the formation and development of State and Provincial collections of Association publications. Requests for aid in this direction have come during the year from Illinois, Michigan, Ohio, Massachusetts and Ontario. College and public libraries throughout the country, recognizing the relation of our Associations to educational work, are also giving much more attention to this matter. The rapidly increasing demand for the International and State Year Books leads me again this year to urge all State Committees and the Associations in the larger cities to send their annual reports regularly to the leading libraries of the States, as well as to carry over a few—say fifty—copies each year to meet future needs.

A larger number of Association workers and students have used the Library the past year than ever before. Several State Committees have been aided with historical material for their Year Books, and a number of local committees with information to be used at anniversaries and the dedication of new buildings.

One who is now doing effective service among young men in Europe, spent some time with us in studying the methods employed by our own and kindred Associations in Great Britain and on the continent, all of which has been of great advantage to him. A well-known public speaker spent some time with us in collecting material on questionable amusements and personal and social purity, which he has since used very effectively in addressing large audiences of young men. An Australian worker who recently paid us a hurried visit expressed great surprise at the amount of information we had gathered concerning the Associations on that continent, and learned many things new to him. A newly-appointed State secretary of the Young Women's Christian Associations in one of the Western States, appreciating the advantages offered here for study in her line, spent some time with us.

We again call the attention of pioneers in Association work, or the families of such, that may have Association books, pamphlets, manuscripts or pictures that they are willing to dispose of, to the importance of sending them to an international depository like this Library. Information as to the whereabouts of such papers will always be gratefully received. Communications and parcels should be addressed, "The Historical Library of Young Men's Christian Associations, Springfield, Mass."

ANNUAL REPORT OF J. TRUMBULL SWIFT,
Secretary for Japan.

It seems necessary to preface this report with a brief reference to the conditions under which the work has been accomplished. Unless viewed in the light of these conditions, the statistics of any branch of Christian work in Japan for the year 1890 may seem discouraging. Previous years have been marked by an ever increasing prosperity; but the records of this year, if unexplained, may appear to most non-residents to indicate that the steady growth of Christian work here has been checked.

It is proper, therefore, to ask our friends, who are familiar with the depressing effects exerted by every presidential election upon all kinds of Christian effort in the United States, to keep in mind the following facts: During the past year the Japanese people have gone through a crisis more revolutionary than any they have experienced in all their long national history ; for in it they have passed from under an absolute government that existed for more, than 2,000 years to one in which they themselves are allowed to have a part. They have had their first experience of national elections and modern party strife. Their many newspapers have discussed affairs of government with a freedom never before allowed to them. They have witnessed the assembling of their first parliament, and have followed its debates with keenest interest. Is it therefore strange that the young men, the class hitherto most responsive to the claims of Christ, have had their attention diverted from the truths of His gospel? But still another disturbing element has been present to complicate the situation. The existing treaties between Japan and the leading foreign powers have long been felt by the Japanese to be exceedingly oppressive. They deny to the empire judicial jurisdiction over foreign residents, and the right to regulate tariff duties on imports. It had been the fond hope of the nation that before the beginning of the new era these treaties would be revised, but all efforts to obtain a satisfactory revision have proved futile. Foreign nations are therefore looked upon as oppressors ; the independence of Japan has been made a prominent plank in the platform of every political party; and a deep-seated prejudice against foreigners has arisen in all parts of the empire. To some extent though in less degree, this prejudice has also been directed against the Japanese Christians, for the Conservative or Nationalistic movement regards them as upholders of foreign ideas. With such causes for indifference and prejudice, it is surprising that the harvest has been even as great as it has. So far from being discouraging, it seems to us that the Church of Christ in her present trial exhibits an independent strength that gives great promise for the future. It is generally believed that the present state of affairs cannot long prevail. It necessitates no relaxation of our efforts, but merely of such methods of work as shall keep us from offending any.

A considerable portion of my time during the year was expended in the reorganization of the Tokyo Association. In this connection it was necessary to secure a general secretary, to prepare in Japanese a suitable constitution, and to purchase a properly located lot for the building. The selection of the first general secretary demanded more care, thought, and time, than will, perhaps, be appreciated. In almost any other country of the Orient the Association, at least in its early years, would naturally be managed by an experienced foreign secretary. Under him the work would be developed, and a body of committeemen, educated in the correct methods, would sooner or later present several well-known candidates for the permanent secretaryship. In Japan, however, existing circumstances rendered such a course impracticable, and it was, therefore, necessary, to find a young man having the proper spiritual and executive qualifications that, at the cost of some personal sacrifice, should intelligently devote his life to the work. After much conference and prayer, Seijiro Niwa was chosen. He accepted the office in July, and was able to begin his work early in October. His early life was spent in the employ of the first national bank of Osaka, where he was converted through the persuasions of a fellow employé. After his conversion, he studied in the college of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, at Kyoto, where he was highly esteemed. Having been actively connected with the work done in Kyoto in 1889 by Mr. Wishard, he afterwards exerted himself to render it permanent among the students. He enters upon his work with an earnestness that gives promise of great usefulness.

From the beginning of the year until very near its end, constant and unremitting search was made for a suitable site for the building of the city Association. No fewer than six lots were, at different times, negotiated for, while the possibilities of many more were considered. Several times it seemed that all the preliminaries of the bargain had been settled, when the character of the intending purchasers would be discovered, and the price advanced beyond our means. It appeared quite impossible to secure a proper lot centrally located for less than $30,000. But at last, through the earnest efforts of Jiro Yuasa, M. P., a lot 105 feet (frontage) by 174 feet (depth) was secured on one of the first-class streets in the Kanda district, which is the quarter of the city containing the greatest number of young men, most of them away from home and living in boarding-houses. The transfer of title was effected November 24, 1890. The exact price of the land, together with that of the houses to be removed, agents' fees, etc., will certainly be very much less than the above-named sum.

In all these matters and many others, which the limits of this report forbid me to touch upon, I have had the constant, active co-operation and valuable advice of the following gentlemen: Rev. Messrs. Y. Hiraiwa, K. Ibuka, K. Kimura, H. Kozaki, M. Tai, N. Tamura, J. T. Yokoi, and J. Yuasa, M. P. They constitute a temporary committee of management of the Tokyo Association, and represent the Congregational, Presbyterian, Methodist, and Protestant Episcopal denominations.

A constitution based on the principles of the Portland Resolution has been adopted, and will soon be presented to the first board of directors (laymen) to which the committee will shortly transfer the management of the Association.

With the other city Associations in the empire I have directly and indirectly been working by visitation and correspondence. The Association in Kobe is doing excellent work under its efficient secretary, Mr. S. Inouye. On Saturdays and Sundays, and all evenings of the week it has the use of a school building in which are maintained evening classes in English and mathematics, a weekly Bible-class, prayer-meetings, social gatherings, a reading-room, and occasional lectures. It has forty active, thirty-five associate, and five special members. The Osaka Association reports about 150 members, thirty men serving on a committee, monthly addresses in its large hall, and the maintenance of a reading-room in a small adjoining building. The Sapporo Association, though composed chiefly of students from three government schools and colleges, carries on a work much like that of a city Association; visiting sick and irregular church goers, conducting meetings for Bible study, evangelistic work, and literary exercises.

The College Associations have increased in number, and there has been steady improvement manifest in their more systematic endeavors, and their recognition of the value of personal work for the unsaved. Constant correspondence, with visitation, has been carried on by Mr. N. Murakami, who has devoted much of his time to this department. In Tokyo, two buildings have been rented and placed at the disposal of the Associations in the University and Higher Middle College, and that in the Higher Commercial College.

These buildings, though small, have been of great help to the students. Japanese and foreign periodicals, small libraries, and social gatherings have made them attractive to numbers of unbelievers; while Bible-classes, training-classes, and classes for inquirers, together with lectures and the distribution of printed addresses have been actively maintained. In the face of prevailing sentiment, the activity of the College Associations, wherever found—especially of those connected with non-Christian institutions—has been a remarkable feature of the year's work.

The second Christian Summer School was held July 5-15, in the buildings of Union College, Tokyo. All arrangements were made by a committee of seven students, having as chairman Mr. S. Kimura, a Fellow of the Imperial University. Rev. M. Oshikawa presided at all the sessions, and his strong personality did much to make the school a success, and to deepen spiritual conviction in the hearts of the students. Addresses were delivered by prominent Japanese pastors and professional men, and by several foreign missionaries. Three hundred and fifty students, representing twenty-five different schools and colleges, were in attendance. A book entitled "Spiritual Christianity," giving the principal addresses, and an account of the meetings, has been published, and has had an extensive sale.

In September, Prof. Drummond visited Tokyo, and addressed a students' mass meeting, and met informally a number of students and professors of the university.

The closing days of the year witnessed an extension of our work to help the railroad men, who manifest much interest.

During the year some portion of my time has been devoted to the work of the Foreign Educational Committee of New York City, and to the helping of its teachers, who are recent graduates of American colleges, engaged in a self-supporting work for the young men of this land.

In connection with the year's work I have attended 45 committee meetings, taught 46 sessions of Bible-classes, and written 1060 letters. I have also been in daily conference with young men connected with various Associations, and have endeavored to give daily attention to the study of the Japanese language. I regret that during three months of the year illness kept me from doing full work.

In conclusion it is but just that I should acknowledge the wise counsel constantly given me by Rev. George Wm. Knox, D. D.; also the valuable assistance rendered us by Rev. Professor H. M. Landis, who has devoted much time and labor to the architecture of the proposed buildings.

ANNUAL REPORT OF DAVID McCONAUGHY, JR.,

Secretary for India.

My last report—which was also my first—was written soon after the "opening" of the Madras Association. During the year intervening, there has been steady and substantial development in all directions.

The first month only the reading room was opened; then the social room was supplied with bound volumes of illustrated periodicals and a few games; the reception committee was soon appointed to extend the hospitality of the Association, especially to strangers, and to conduct evening prayers just before the hour of closing. From the beginning, a Bible study was conducted every Saturday evening by the general secretary; the formal "opening" of the rooms occurred March 7th, the Lord Bishop of Madras presiding. Friday evening was devoted to literary and social events alternately, an excellent course of lectures being arranged for one week and varied amusements afforded the next. Then the nucleus of a library was gathered, which has gradually grown until it has become a circulating and reference library of 300 volumes. During the summer months, a Bible class was begun for training in personal work, and the character of the Saturday evening meeting was modified, so that it was conducted and participated in by members; afterward it was not thought well to change this plan and a Bible class was provided for on Sunday afternoons; a vocal music class was inaugurated in August. In September the restaurant was undertaken; in order to secure adequate supervision of this department a ladies' auxiliary was organized. Early in November the first steps were taken toward physical training, an athletic club being inaugurated.

The membership at the close of the year was 207, of whom 3 are Burmese, 21 European, 43 Eurasian and 140 Indian—Mohamedan 3, Hindu 78, (Brahmin 32,) Christian (nominally) 126. There are 61 active members, all bearing some part in the work of the Association.

The aggregate attendance in the rooms for the year (of eleven months) was 39,111—exclusive of the restaurant—averaging 282 daily during December.

Members' meetings were held quarterly, with an average attendance of 158.

The Bible class has been attended chiefly by students, there being an average attendance of 28 during the entire year, including the hottest weather. At the young men's meeting the attendance averaged 27. Another meeting has been begun in a distant section of the city, with an average attendance of 11. A Bible training class, commenced in May, was continued until early in December, two sets of men taking the course of study in personal work.

The week of prayer for young men, which was observed in Madras for the first time, November 6-13, proved a season of great refreshing. All of the local societies of young men were asked to unite, and young men's meetings were held every evening. This concert of action tended to promote a spirit of unity among these kindred societies. Best of all, deep spiritual impressions were received not only by some of our active members, who realized more fully than ever before the personal presence of the Holy Spirit, but several of our associate members were led to confess Christ as their Lord. One of our non-Christian members was baptized in December, and has become an active member indeed. Spiritual fruit cannot be weighed, and the real results of the year's work cannot be counted. That there has been fruit that will remain, we are sure, and we hope for an increase.

At the outset it was decided to develop the work only as funds were furnished by the community locally; 3,000 rupees were asked for. The expenditures for the year, including the erection of the restaurant annex, furnishing, and other extraordinary expenses, amounted to 3,754 rupees; the receipts were 3,904 rupees.

The work attempted here has served as an object-lesson to other places, and several Associations have been begun elsewhere in consequence. For the first time, during the past year an attempt has been made to ascertain the strength of the Associations in India. Correspondence has been conducted with thirty-one Associations. Nine of these have been organized since the work was begun in Madras. A common interest has already been aroused among these isolated Associations, resulting in the holding of the first convention of the Associations of India, at Madras, in February.

This convention surpassed the most sanguine expectations. There were thirty-five accredited delegates in attendance from seventeen Associations, (counting only four from Madras), besides representatives from four other towns where organization has not yet been effected, and a large number of honorary members. It was notably a young men's convention, the solitary gray head to be seen being that of the honored chairman. Most of the delegates were very young men. It was evident that the Association is a lay movement, thirty-two of the thirty five delegates being laymen.

At the same time, the convention was unmistakably a gathering of men that are whole-hearted in their loyalty to the Church of Christ. There was no uncertain sound in the deliverances on this subject. The paper on "The basis of membership" led to the adoption of a resolution defining the qualification of Associations desiring admission to future conventions, placing the movement in unmistakable allegiance to the Christian Protestant Church as therein defined.

It was evident, too, that the movement is an indigenous one. Of the thirty-five regularly accredited delegates, twenty-six were Indian, two Eurasian, and seven European.

An Indian was chosen chairman of the National Committee, which is composed of eight Indians, two Eurasians, five English and two Americans. The Indian delegates took part freely in the discussions, and three of them prepared papers, opening topics.

The following gentlemen were appointed the Indian National Committee to serve until the next National Convention, viz.—

Amritsar, Dr. H. M. Clarke; Arcot Academy, Ranipet, Mr. H. J. Scudder; Bareilly, Prof. H. H. Mukerjee; Bombay, Mr. F. J. Clark, Mr. Jas. Morris, Mr. A. R. King, Mr. M. Goray; Hyderabad, Mr. Henry Croley, Mr. B. Paul; Madras, Mr. S. Sathianadhan, Mr. W. R. Arbuthnot, Rev. J. Lazarus, Mr. David McConaughy, Jr.; Madura, Rev. E. Yesudian; Neyoor, Dr. E. Sargood Fry; Palamcottah, Rev. Edwin A. Douglas; Poona, Mr. J. H. Jones and Mr. W. Mathie.

Resolutions were adopted ratifying the "Basis of 1855," restricting representation in future conventions to Associations whose active membership is composed of "members in full communion of Christian Protestant Churches," and defining the term "Christian Protestant" as equivalent to what is known in America as "Protestant Evangelical;" authorizing the National Committee to appoint its own officers and make by-laws, delegate representatives to the World's Conference, arrange a second National Convention, to be held, if possible, in or near Bombay, in 1892, and "to act in an advisory capacity in regard to Young Men's Christian Association work in India."

The National Committee met on Saturday night of the convention week, and remained in session four hours. Eight of the committee were present also Col. C. T. P. Luxmoore, of Poona, president of the convention; L. D. Wishard, college secretary of the Central International Committee, and Rev. W. I. Chamberlain, of Madanapalle, corresponding member of the American International Committee. After the most careful consideration and prayer the following officers were elected, on the nomination of F. J. Clark, honorary secretary of the Bombay Association : Chairman, S. Sathianadhan ; Treasurer, W. Reierson Arbuthnot ; Secretary, David McConaughy, Jr.

The officers, together with Rev. J. Lazarus, Madras, and H. J. Scudder, Ranipet, were constituted a business committee to transact routine business. These election of the officers and the location of the business committee at Madras, should not be considered a permanent arrangement. It is more likely that the centre of activity will shift to one of the other large cities of the empire, as the work extends in other parts of the country. At present, however, the South is far in advance of every other section in point of Christian population and the development of Church life. There are twice as many Associations in Madras Presidency as in all the rest of India. It was felt that the headquarters should be nearest to the greater number of Associations.

That this field is white for harvest there is not the least doubt. That the Young Men's Christian Associations of Christian countries have here presented an unprecedented opportunity, entailing a responsibility, is evident enough now, if it was not a year ago. There is need for more men than was at first supposed—in order to afford trained leadership for a time, to the great cities at least—and for the money to support them. Four cities are now urgently asking, through the missionary conferences, for competent general secretaries to be sent at once. Our cry goes up to God continually to send forth laborers into His harvest, and we confidently look for help to come soon.

ANNUAL REPORTS OF CORRESPONDING MEMBERS.

TO MARCH 1, 1891.

FRANCE.

In looking over the field of Association activity in France during the past year, one cannot fail to be impressed with the general progress that has been made.

In the Paris Association the membership has grown from 310 to 437, and the daily attendance at the rooms has increased in the same ratio. The number of members on the working committees is fifty-seven as against forty-three a year ago. A young men's meeting has been inaugurated, which averages an attendance of sixty-five. Many eminent gentlemen have encouraged us by giving their services as lecturers. Mr. James Stokes of New York, who has given the initial impulse to the renewed work throughout France, was able to judge, by a personal visit, of the work carried on here. His presence stimulated greatly the interest of prominent French Protestants, as well as the members of the Association. Thomas K. Cree, Secretary of the International Committee, and representative of Mr. Stokes, continued the movement inaugurated by the latter in favor of a building in Paris. Through the instrumentality of Mr. Cree, the society to hold this property has been organized, with a capital of 525,000 francs, and there is every probability that the sum will be increased to 800,000 francs.

By the aid of American friends, the Association at St. Fortunat has been able to pay the debt on its building and secure a clear title to it, as well as purchase a lot adjoining that affords a fine opportunity for sports in the open air.

In many other towns there has been increased effort in behalf of the Association. This has been largely due to the influence exerted by the Paris work. Other factors, however, have contributed to this result, namely, the national conference of 1889, and the activity of James Hughes, secretary of the Lyons Association, who has given four months of his time to visiting different Associations, as General Secretary of the National Committee.

In Lyons a larger financial support has enabled the Association to maintain a broader work. At Marseilles the Association has moved into new rooms, and is making pressing appeals for a general secretary. The Association at Montpellier has moved into greatly improved quarters in the centre of the town, and right in the path of numberless students. At St. Jean des Gard there is an increased interest in the religious work; and at Nîmes also, an increased activity is manifest.

Pastor A. Maillet, of the Drosie Ardeche district, has been very active in behalf of the Associations. He has visited the Protestants of the Vaudois valleys and upper Dauphine, where he has established two Associations. New Associations have also been founded at La Rochelle, Toulouse, Lasselle, and Montbeliard. The Associations at Rouen and Dijon have moved into new rooms.

The Paris Association is being constantly requested to send its printed matter and its general secretaries to different localities, and is thus becoming, as was expected, a centre of influence in France.

GERMANY.

With much gratitude to God we review the work of the past year. There has been advance on all sides. The State, Provincial and District Committees especially have shown more energy than ever in forwarding the cause entrusted to them. As a result funds are coming in from sources that formerly seemed to be entirely uninterested.

Several new buildings have been opened, or are in the course of erection. The Associations at Elberfeld and Berlin have been incorporated. Papers entirely devoted to the work have, since 1886, doubled in number, viz., from 7 to 15, the older ones having been enlarged and issued more frequently.

Eight new men have entered the work during the past year: two of them as traveling secretaries of the South, and the Alsace-Lorraine Bunds; one as an assistant traveling secretary of the North Bund; one as general secretary of the Strasburg (Alsace) Association; two as assistant secretaries at Stuttgart and Hamburg; and two as office secretaries of the West and the East Bunds.

The social questions of the day and the help the Association can give towards their solution have been very earnestly considered, and several steps already taken in this direction. As all the young mechanics and artisans, for instance, are by law obliged to belong to a "sick fund," the Social Democrats have organized such funds, and compel most of the young men to join them, thereby bringing them under their influence. During the past year our Associations have started such a fund of their own, which has now about 150 deposit banks distributed throughout the empire.

Open air gospel meetings on Sunday afternoons have been begun with success in recreation resorts where young men are to be found in large numbers. The White Cross movement has also been introduced, and a general committee for Germany formed.

The second continental secretaries' conference was held at Stuttgart, and was attended by seventeen men—one from Holland, two from France, six from Switzerland, and eight from Germany. The Central International Committee was represented by Mr. Fermaud and his assistant. All present were deeply impressed with the great importance of such gatherings for mutual prayer, exchange of thought and experience. To strengthen the bond, a secretaries association of the continent of Europe has been formed, with Mr. Fermaud as president.

GREAT BRITAIN.

The work of the Young Men's Christian Association throughout Great Britain is steadily growing. Not only is it increasing numerically, both as to Associations and membership, but the work is commending itself to the young men of the land, and, furthermore, to the public in general. The value of buildings now owned by Associations in England, Ireland, and Wales, is £326,746, and it is well to note that this amount has been for the most part subscribed by keen business men.

The total membership of the United Kingdom is not less than 85,000, the number of Associations being 609.

The more complete organization of districts, with traveling secretaries, is one of the striking features of the work at the present time.

An excellent spirit reigns throughout the work. This is no doubt largely attributable to the effect of national organization, which has greatly tended to draw together the separate Associations into one harmonious whole. We have great reason to thank God and take courage, and believe that we are now entering upon times of greater prosperity than ever before experienced in the work.

HAWAII.

Affairs in the Association at Honolulu, the capital city, have run along as usual. Its commodious brick building is usefully employed, not only for the meetings of the Association and its well stocked and well patronized reading room, but also as the headquarters where many religious and benevolent societies and committees hold their sessions. The usual religious meetings have been held during the year with largely increased attendance and profit, and five social entertainments and several lectures have contributed to the general interest. The present membership is 140, and the receipts and expenditures for the year were $4,406. Under the auspices of the Association, S. M. Sayford conducted a series of successful evangelistic services.

The "Y. M. C. A. Boys," under skillful management, prospers as a feeder to the Association. "Queen Emma Hall" is supported by the Association. A weekly temperance meeting for Hawaiians, a regular evening school for Portuguese, and a day school for Chinese, are among the uses made of this hall.

The Chinese Association continues as reported last year. The Japanese Association misses the inspiring influence of the late Japanese Consul, Mr. Taso Ando, who has returned to his home.

INDIA.

It is always a pleasure to be a bearer of good tidings, and a decided privilege to be able to report progress in a good movement. Especially is it an enviable task to record progress of the nature that has characterized a movement containing so many elements of power and promise for the future of India as that of the of the Young Men's Christian Association.

Last year's report recorded the establishment of the Association of Madras and the existence of a few scattered and poorly organized Associations throughout India. We are rejoicing to-day in the increasing influence and growing membership (223) of the Association at Madras, and the existence of a comparatively large number of fairly well organized Associations in India, 32 of which reported to the first National Convention, held in Madras, February 19-22, 1891. At this convention 17 Associations, and four towns where no organizations yet exist, were represented by 35 delegates and 20 honorary members. 21 of the Associations reporting are in the Madras Presidency, 4 in Bombay, 2 in the Punjab, 2 in the Deccan, 1 each in the Central and North-west Provinces and in Sind.

The event of greatest importance during the year was naturally the National Convention referred to. The Christian spirit of the delegates, the united feeling, and the decided ability of some of them, made this first convention altogether a remarkable one.

The greatest interest centered about the discussion regarding the character of the permanent organization to be effected. The final decision was unanimous in favor of an organization upon a national basis. A representative National Indian Committee of sixteen members, with powers well defined, was appointed, with headquarters and business committee in Madras.

JAPAN.

The Summer School for Bible Study was perhaps the most prominent feature in the work of the Associations in this country during the year. It was held with the Meiji Gakuin (the college of the Reformed and Presbyterian missions), in Tokyo, during July. The school was a marked success, and this in spite of peculiar difficulties.

The first Summer school was held in 1889, in Kyoto. It had the charm of novelty, and was led by Mr. Wishard. This year no foreigner was at the head; the first novelty was gone, and the general discouragement attending Christian work made many anticipate failure. But, on the contrary, the meeting was even more successful than its predecessor. The attendance was large and enthusiastic, the president (Rev. Mr. Oshikawa) had the respect and sympathy of all present, the addresses were of a high order, and the general influence was of great value.

Some of the addresses were very pronounced in expressions of patriotic resolve to adapt Christianity to the peculiar needs of Japan, and to insist upon the obliteration of foreign leadership. The Japanese Christians at present are everywhere on the defensive. Christianity is represented as a foreign religion, and the Church is accused of weak subservience to foreign control. In their strong and natural desire to repel these charges, the Christians sometimes use expressions that give pain to their foreign teachers and friends. But a little consideration for the trying situation, and a little forbearance, enables us to understand that the expressions do not always justify such feelings.

Some of the speakers, too, were supposed to be somewhat too broad in their theology, and too ready to cast aside the experience and the creeds of other lands. No doubt, there is something of danger here. But Japan is thinking for itself, and the Christians are not different from their fellow-countrymen. There is a sense, too, in which it is perfectly true that Japan needs a Christianity adapted to itself, and differing somewhat from the forms our Anglo-Saxon race demands. We cannot run their faith and their devotion in our moulds. But a strong evangelical spirit pervaded the whole meeting, and the tendencies were altogether opposed to rationalism and doubt.

The general sentiment among the Japanese is shown by the desire to continue the school as a permanent institution. Before the session of this year began, general opinion declared that it should be the last, unless a real success should be achieved.

At least one young evangelist that was in attendance received an impulse that sent him back to his work with new zeal, though he had almost determined to give up preaching. Doubtless, many others were equally strengthened.

I have gone into this subject at some length, since it illustrates the general situation. There are many difficulties and perplexities, but faith and hope see the way through them all. The Association has to face the situation fairly and frankly, and in so far as it does so face it, that it will attain great results cannot be doubtful.

The work of Secretary Swift has been done in a very modest, unassuming way, but has been none the less efficient. His position is trying, and success will be proportionately difficult of attainment. In no department of Christian work is there greater need of patience, faith, earnestness, and love.

MANITOBA.

The reports made at the annual convention of the Associations of the Canadian Northwest, which has just been held, show a most gratifying condition of the work on this field.

The Provincial Committee was fortunate in securing C. M. Copeland as Traveling Secretary, and the visits that he has made to the towns and villages in this section have proved very helpful. Three Associations—Regina, Cargary, and Glenboro—have been organized during the year, making a total of eight Associations in the Canadian Northwest. Five of these report a total membership of 755. At several other points young men's meetings are held, preparatory to organization of Associations later on.

The Winnipeg Association has become the possessor of a fine building lot worth $10,000, half of which is still unpaid. This Association has secured an efficient successor to Mr. Copeland as general secretary, and the work is in a very prosperous condition.

At the Provincial Convention, $46 for international work, and $45 for Association work in India, were raised.

The presence of International Secretary Brown at the convention was highly profitable, as were also the visits he made to local Associations.

NEW BRUNSWICK.

Association work in New Brunswick during the past year has been generally prosperous, and the present outlook is most encouraging.

In St. John, over one hundred new members have been admitted, a boy's branch organized, and a growing work prosecuted.

In Moncton, the new building is rapidly being completed, and promises to be one of the most attractive homes for young men in the Maritime Provinces.

An Association has recently been organized at Hampton, a flourishing village about twenty miles from St. John. Through the kindness of one of the members, a very good hall has been placed at its disposal, free of expense.

College Association work at Fredericton and Sackville is reported in a very healthy condition, and much good is being accomplished in both places.

The services of our Provincial Secretary, Mr. Gorton, have proved invaluable during the past year in strengthening weak Associations and in the formation of new organizations.

W. S. MORRISON, Cor. Mem.

NOVA SCOTIA.

Reference was made in the report of last year to the prospect of obtaining a Traveling Secretary for the Maritime Provinces. We are glad to state that such an officer in the person of E. W. Gorton has been in the field nine months, and good work has been done. This has been shown not so much in an increase in the number of Associations as in an increase in their efficiency. His attention has been turned more to the strengthening of Associations already in existence rather than to the formation of new ones. We have, however, made a gain of one Association during the year.

The annual convention of the Maritime Provinces was held in New Glasgow August 7-10, 1890. It was well attended, and was a successful and profitable meeting. The International Committee was represented by Messrs. Kelley and Hague, who rendered valuable assistance. The Committee has also aided the work by the assistance given in securing a Provincial Secretary, and in several cases, general secretaries for local Associations.

Notwithstanding some seriously disheartening circumstances in connection with some of the Associations, we think on the whole the cause is gaining, and are hoping for a year of successful work.

W. B. McNUTT, Cor Mem.

ONTARIO.

The past year has been one of progress in the right direction, and the fruit of earnest work by our Provincial Secretary, Mr. Cole, is now being seen at many points.

Several new Associations have been formed, and a number of buildings erected, including one for the Railroad Branch of the Toronto Association.

The Provincial Convention, held at Kingston February 5-8, 1891, was well attended, and proved very helpful to the work. Richard C. Morse rendered us valuable assistance at that time, and J. R. Mott's visit among the colleges last year was also much appreciated.

JOHN J. GARTSHORE, Cor. Mem.

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND.

The number of Associations in this Province is two.

During the year the Traveling Secretary for the Maritime Provinces, has visited both the Associations. Through his efforts the means to employ a general secretary for the Summerside Association have been procured and a secretary engaged. He also secured $1,000 in Charlottetown for the purpose of enlarging the local work and employing a new secretary.

J. D. SEAMAN, Cor. Mem.

. QUEBEC. .

The Quebec Association reports a successful year. The Sherbrooke Association secured a general secretary August 15th, and opened a well furnished parlor and a gymnasium. The attendance at its rooms has been large, and the religious meetings are resulting in conversions.

Corresponding members have been placed all through the eastern townships. Richmond and Coaticooke are anxious to start Associations, and correspondence with that end in view is in progress.

The Montreal Association will take possession of its new building, thoroughly furnished, about the first of September next. The portions not required for immediate use of the Association have been leased.

CHARLES CUSHING, Cor. Mem.

ALABAMA.

The Associations in our principal cities are in a better condition than they were a year ago. Some of the smaller Associations are inactive, and a few have died during the year. The Associations in the colleges are doing fairly well, the one located in the Southern University, at Greensboro, having done a splendid work, reporting over 25 professed conversions.

At four points in the State general secretaries are employed, and at two other places such an officer is wanted.

We lost our State Secretary, Mr. Cook, in September, and were without any help in State work until in January, when F. L. Willis became acting State Secretary for a few months, and is still filling that position at the time of this report. This latter arrangement was made possible through the help rendered by an agent of the International Committee, Mr. Ober, during a visit made to this State in January.

The State Convention was held at Anniston, April 17-20, 1890. The International Committee was represented by Thomas K. Cree and A. T. Jamison,
C. W. LOVELACE, Cor. Mem.

ARKANSAS.

The work in Arkansas during the past year has been a very satisfactory one along the line of development. But few Associations have been organized, and some have been disbanded, but most of those that are in existence to-day are stronger than they were a year ago.

The State Committee and Secretary have given special attention to the strengthening of the Associations at the principal business centres. These Associations, in their internal development, have made rapid strides, and their radiating influence will be felt in district and State work.

Two College Associations have been formed during the year.

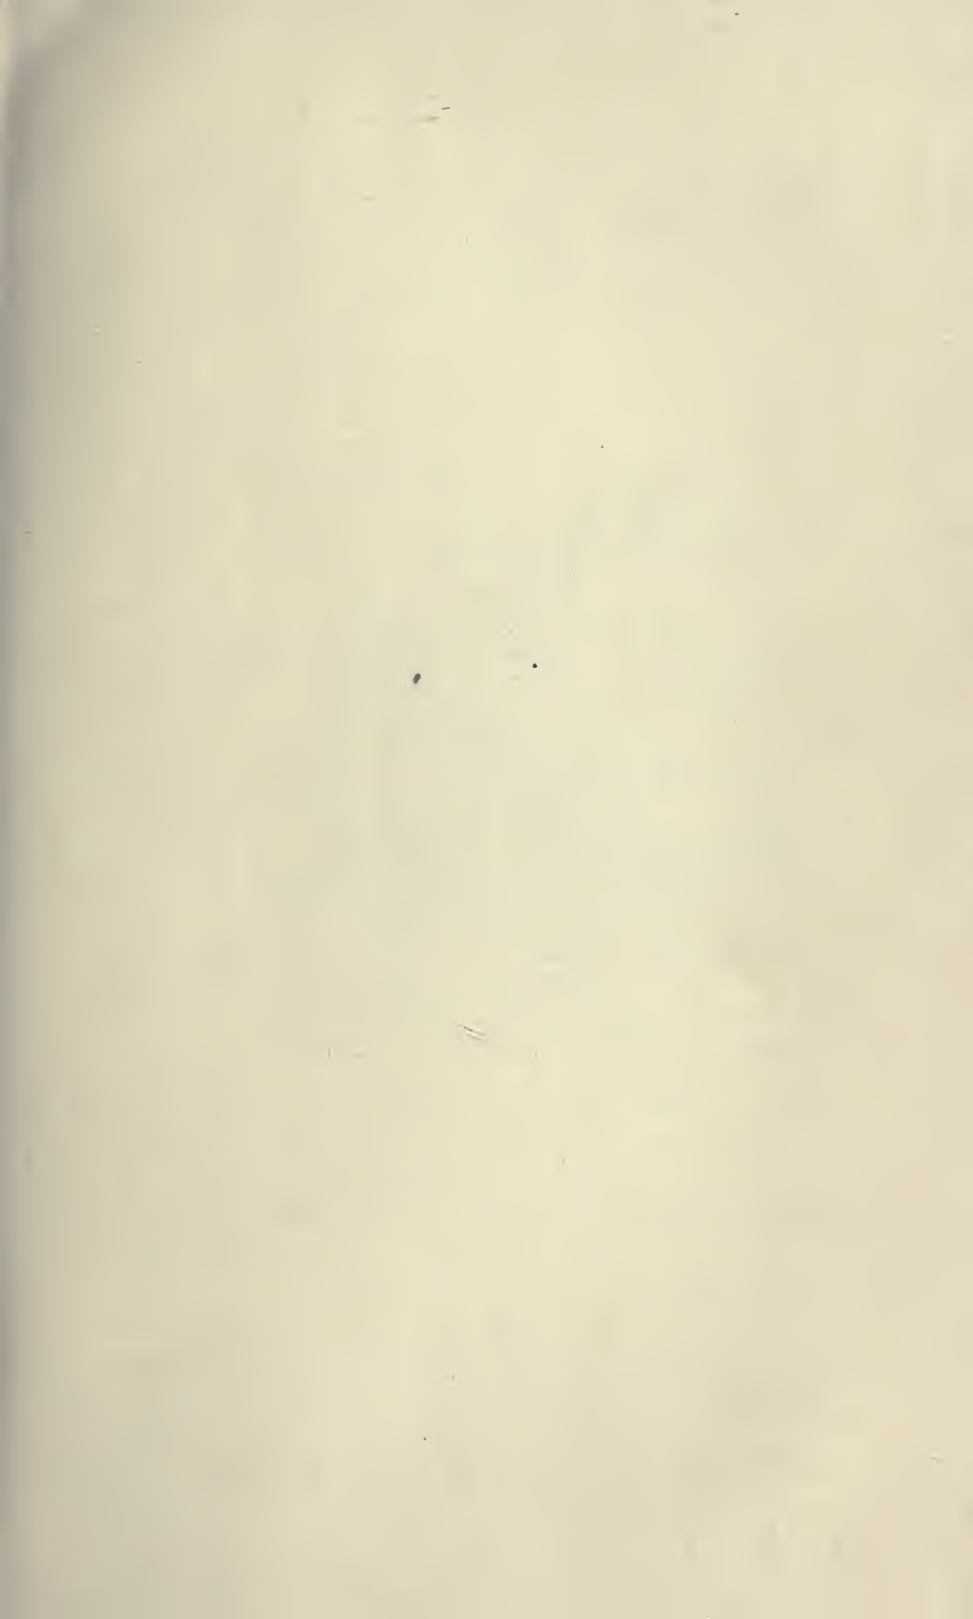

The International Committee, through its agents, Messrs. Weidensall, Ober, White, and Hansel, has rendered valuable service to our work.

P. K. ROOTS, Cor. Mem.

CALIFORNIA.

We are glad to be able to report that there has been a steady growth and development in all lines of Association work in California during the past year. The various building enterprises are in better condition than a year ago, and there is every encouragement to believe that several of the buildings will be dedicated, free of debt, during the present year.

The tenth annual State Convention, held at San Diego, October 8-12, 1900, was one of the most helpful to the work that has yet taken place in California. There was a good deal of anxiety in regard to holding it so far from the centre of the work, but the Lord was better to us than our fears, and it proved to be a pronounced success in every particular. More money was raised for State work than in any previous year.

William H. Mead has been continued as State Secretary, and several competent men have been placed as general secretaries at important points in the State. The work has a strong hold upon our people, and the prospects for the future are exceedingly encouraging.

The International Committee was represented at our State Convention by Secretary Brown.

COLORADO.

Association work in Colorado is showing marked gain, not in an increased number of Associations, but in a strengthening and expansion of the work in towns where it is already organized.

The initial Railroad Association in the State was established on the Union Pacific Railroad atromo, December 1, 1890, through the agency of International Secretary Gates.

The Associations at Leadville and Aspen, although suffering from financial depression, have accomplished a good work, and look with hopefulness to the future.

Colorado Springs has taken decisive steps toward a reorganization, and will soon have the best rooms of any Association in the State.

Pueblo reports most auspicious signs of success for the future. The work has been reorganized and systematized, the rooms finely decorated, and every department pulsates with new life and energy.

Denver has materially increased the size and convenience of its rooms and awaits, with earnest desire, the opportune moment for the reopening of its building canvass.

It is a fact worthy of note that not a single man now employed as general secretary was in the work in this State one year ago.

A State Convention was held at Glen Park in August last, attended by seventy-two delegates. Mr. McBurney and Mr. Weidensall were present as representatives of the International Committee. The latter spent several weeks in the State aiding the work at various points, and opening the way for the employment of a State Secretary.

CONNECTICUT.

Association work in our State during the past year has been marked by an efficiency of service, and by gratifying results, in many respects beyond any previous year during its history.

Our efforts have been not so much to extend our borders as to strengthen and quicken existing Associations. Greater thoroughness and better work has been the objective point at which we have aimed, and the fruit of our efforts, under the Divine blessing, is seen in the conversion of a largely increased number of young men, the enlarged membership, stimulated activities in all departments of work, the large advance in material resources, and the elevated standard as a power for good heartily acknowledged by the communities where the Associations exist.

During the year three new Associations have been organized, one of which, at Torrington, organized in April, has a nearly completed fifteen thousand dollar building; another, at Fair Haven, a branch of the New Haven Association, organized in October, has a membership of about two hundred; and one at the Storrs Agricultural School in Mansfield, also full of promise.

We have, in all, twenty-one Associations, representing nearly seven thousand members, and more than a half million dollars in property. During the last three years the annual contributions for the prosecution of our work have nearly doubled, and our property more than quadrupled.

We have thirty-three paid agents in the State, all of whom are doing good work.

Building interests are being pushed all along the line, nearly every Association having the nucleus for a permanent home, while a goodly number have completed buildings, and others have them in process of erection.

Our State secretary, William E. Colley, called to succeed Mr. Gordon at the beginning of the year, has rendered most efficient service, as has also his assistant Mr. Ladner.

The annual State Convention at New Haven, October 16-19, was attended by 319 delegates, and was one of the best ever held in the State. The International Committee was represented by R. R. McBurney, J. N. Harris, and F. K. Sanders, the former presenting a paper of great power and impressiveness on "Bible Teaching in Young Men's Christian Associations." W. R. BURNHAM, Cor. Mem.

FLORIDA.

No State work has been attempted this year. The only visitation there has been was made by agents of the International Committee.

The new Association at Tampa has a general secretary (the only one in the State), and is doing a good work; it is well organized and has pleasant quarters, including a gymnasium.

There are several other Associations in the State, but none of them is doing a very aggressive work just at present. It is hoped they will become more active in the near future

F. A. CURTIS, Cor. Mem.

GEORGIA.

We have sixteen Associations in Georgia, and sixteen men giving their entire time to the work. The figures show encouraging results in all departments. There is a greater variety of successful work done than ever before; it is definite, with increasing activities along legitimate lines. Better methods and a more accurate knowledge characterize our workers generally.

The desire for an Association home, with the increased facilities for successful work that it brings, dominates the purposes of those in charge of local Association affairs. The current expenses for last year aggregated over $26,000. This is more than twenty times the amount invested in the same way ten years ago.

The State Committee is in closer sympathy with the local work than ever before; while both have been closely drawn to the international work through the invaluable services of Messrs. Weidensall, Cree, Ober and Harding. The future of the work in Georgia was never more promising.

W. WOODS WHITE, Cor. Mem.

ILLINOIS.

The advance of the previous year has been fully maintained during the past year.

One building (at Rockford) has been completed though not yet dedicated, and two buildings (at Peoria and Rock Island), have been enclosed, though neither one is yet finished. The Chicago Association has entered upon a building canvass that, it is hoped, will result in giving it one of the finest properties in the country, for special work among young men. The improvement in the quality of rooms rented by Associations has been marked.

The district work, the Knox College delegation work, and other lines of effort, have been continued with increased vigor and success. The financial condition of the local Associations is as good as last year, with great improvement in some fields.

There are now 87 Associations and departments in the State; 74 men are employed. There are 43 secretarial points as against 39 last year. The reported membership is 12,439. Fifty Associations have reading rooms; 44 have libraries; 111 meetings for young men are reported in connection with the Associations, and four in unorganized towns; 64 Bible and training classes are reported; 19 Associations report work for boys. There are 230 corresponding members in unorganized towns.

The State Committee employs the services of 7 secretaries. Twelve thousand dollars was pledged for the work of 1890, and the committee is raising $16,000 for 1891.

International Secretary Mott gave great assistance at the State Convention. Aid has also been rendered by Secretaries Hicks and White.

INDIANA.

We have at present 20 Associations. All of them were represented at the State Convention at Richmond, Oct. 30–Nov. 2, 1890, which was attended by 163 delegates, the largest number ever present at such a gathering in Indiana, with one exception.

The Association membership, as reported by the State Committee in November, was 4,610; expenses for the year, $38,723; value of buildings and other real estate, $224,300.

The $60,000 building at Evansville is under headway, and will be completed during the Summer, and the $25,000 building at New Albany will be commenced in the Spring. A canvass for a $50,000 building at Richmond has just been begun.

More money was raised for State work during the past year than in any previous year. The indebtedness of our State Committee, referred to in my last report, has been steadily decreased the past nine months. In November,

Mr. Stacey, our former assistant State Secretary, and for seven months acting State Secretary, was chosen State Secretary. At present there are twenty-two general and assistant secretaries and physical directors in the State, being a gain of five during the year.

We would gratefully acknowledge the assistance given to the Indianapolis Association last Summer by International Secretary John R. Hague, the college visitation by Secretary J. C. White, and the presence and helpfulness of Secretaries J. R. Mott and C. J. Hicks at our State Convention.

J. C. SHAFFER, Cor. Mem.

IOWA.

The past year has been one of unprecedented growth and activity in the work in this State.

We now have 47 Associations—22 in colleges, one among railroad men, and 24 in cities and towns. Thirty men are employed as general secretaries and assistants, a gain of eight during the year.

The Association building at Des Moines is almost ready for occupancy. The Association at the State University has received a gift of $10,000 from Mrs. Helen H. Close, being the largest single donation ever made in this State towards an Association building. $66,000 has been added to the various building funds during the year.

The interest in the work for railroad men is steadily increasing. The Railroad Department at Marshalltown has surpassed expectations. Meetings for railroad men are held at two other points, and preliminary work is being done at several other places.

The work in the colleges has been more thoroughly organized than ever before. Bible study is receiving considerable attention, in three of the colleges the enrollment in the various Bible classes being over 50. The college deputation work has been very useful. Twenty-one students attended the Summer Schools at Northfield and Lake Geneva.

District work has been begun during the year. Eight district conventions have been held in different parts of the State. The results have been most gratifying, in quickening workers and imparting information.

The spiritual interest has kept pace with the material prosperity. The number of young men uniting with churches during the year was nearly double that of the former year.

Notwithstanding that the State Convention met in the extreme southeastern corner of the State, it was the largest and best yet held in Iowa. The State Committee has been enlarged to 21 members.

The counsel and assistance of the International Committee have been very helpful and greatly appreciated.

M. H. SMITH, Cor. Mem.

KANSAS.

At present there are in this State 48 city and 22 College Associations, and one Railroad Branch. There is also one county organization. The City Associations have 28 general and 3 assistant secretaries, and 2 gymnasium superintendents. These, together with the State Secretary, the ten secretaries of the State Committee, and the one county secretary, make a total of 45 persons giving their entire time to the work.

ASSOCIATION BUILDING, CEDAR RAPIDS, IA.,
CORNER FIRST STREET AND FIRST AVENUE.

DEDICATED, APRIL 27, 1889.

Dimensions, 50x150 feet. Cost, $32,000. Population in 1889, 20,000.

The report for the fiscal year ending September 30, 1890, shows 294 committees, with 873 members; 80 Bible and training classes, with an average weekly attendance of 729; 67 men's meetings, with an average weekly attendance of 2,827; 223 neighborhood meetings; 788 persons that professed conversion, and whose names were recorded; and 265 persons that united with the Church.

The ninth annual "Great Meeting," held at Leavenworth, October 15-19, was attended by 637 delegates, representing 61 Associations. The report of the State Committee showed an expenditure of $15,253.09, with all bills fully paid. Secretary Mott, of the International Committee, was in attendance.

Thirteen district conferences have been held, with an attendance of 357 delegates. The third annual Bible School gathered in camp at Emporia, June 10-19, and was attended by between 250 and 400 students, 49 of whom had previously offered their lives for foreign missionary work, and 75 others volunteered at this time for the spreading of the gospel in the dark fields of the earth.

A "Gospel Wagon," with four singers and a preacher, was started out among the smaller towns of the State during the month of May, and has been a great blessing to the State, many persons having been led to Christ through this medium. The wagon was placed in winter quarters the first of November, since which time the band has been holding evangelistic meetings, their labors being blessed at every place by the Holy Ghost.

The State Committee has taken hold of the work in Oklahoma and Indian Territories more earnestly than ever before, one of its secretaries having been detailed for that work, with headquarters at Guthrie. The State is still hard pressed financially, yet nearly one-half dozen of the Associations that were badly in debt have been liberated from these bonds, and many others are now attempting to stand on the pay-as-you-go-and-no-debt platform.

The secretaries of the State Committee have taken a practical step in what they believe to be the Scriptural basis of salaries, and are now paid not in accordance with their ability or position, but as their needs may require.

The State Committee has designated the first Sunday in the month as "Missionary Day," and a large number of the Associations make the men's meeting on that day a time when the purposes of the Lord toward the whole earth are held up, together with the present condition of the world. These meetings have been of great value to the work, and, indeed, it is safe to say that very few of the general secretaries would to-day remain with faithfulness at their posts amid the many difficulties that surround them were it not for the great missionary interest in the State.

Feeling an urgent need for a training school, where men might be fitted for gospel work, both in this and other lands, a "Gospel Workers' Institute" has been started at Kansas City.

KENTUCKY.

There have been many evidences of growth and activity characterizing the work in our State during the past year. Among them are the following: (1) increase in number of general secretaries, thereby inducing better plans of work and more efficient organization; (2) better financial management; (3) larger and better facilities for the prosecution of the work; (4) increased.

interest in, and number of, Bible and workers' training classes; (5) more definite work for young men in all directions; (6) enlarged spiritual activity; and (7) an increase of thought, attention and financial support given to local and State work, by practical business men, and other friends throughout the State.

The growth of the college work has been a most encouraging feature. Not the least important of the lines of effort in this department has been the intercollegiate deputation work. The deputation has made a systematic visitation, with the result that the work in the colleges of the State is to-day in a more active and efficient condition than ever before.

A new Railroad Department has been opened at Covington. The prospect for the future of this work throughout the State is most encouraging.

Valuable assistance has been rendered by the International Committee, in the extension of the railroad work; in an important financial canvass of Louisville; and at the State Convention.

The tenth annual State Convention, held at Lexington, February 19-22, 1891, was by far the most helpful and best attended convention ever held in the State. 267 delegates were present, as against 150 last year. $2,500 was pledged for State work for 1891.

We recognize, with devout thanksgiving, the blessing of God upon the work of the year. The outlook for the future is exceedingly bright and promising.

LOUISIANA.

There has been no State work in Louisiana for a number of years, and most of the smaller Associations have either suspended or become feeble. An Association was founded at Baton Rouge during the year.

The work in New Orleans is well maintained. A noon-day prayer meeting for business men, led by a member of the Evangelical Pastors' Union, has been inaugurated recently.

The work at Centenary College, Jackson, has been stimulated by a visit from Secretary White of the International Committee.

MAINE.

The State work in Maine has suffered during the past year owing to the resignation of State Secretary Lawrence, who had served very efficiently in that position for the past three years. The State Committee hopes to fill this vacancy soon, when it will be able to give attention to some places that are needing its help.

There are no new Associations to report, but most of those in existence are in a flourishing condition and doing good work.

A large and commodious building at Bangor is nearing its completion. The Auburn Association has paid off a large debt on its building. At several other points the subject of a building is being earnestly considered.

One district conference (at Gardiner) was held during the year, and was well attended.

The State Convention at Lewiston, October 2-5, 1890, was largely attended, and was one of the most successful gatherings of its kind yet held in this State. The International Committee was represented by Secretary Taggart.

The several colleges in the State have large and active Associations, and were well represented at the State Convention.

While no very marked spiritual results can be reported, there has been a good degree of interest, and most of the Associations report conversions.

WM. S. COREY, Cor. Mem.

MARYLAND, WEST VIRGINIA, DELAWARE, AND DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

While our State organization takes in three States and one district, it was not large enough to hold our State Secretary, for the great State of Texas called him, and Mr. Wayte accepted the call. Texas' gain was our loss.

In December, A. H. Zimmerman was employed as acting State Secretary until the annual convention, when he was called to fill the position permanently.

The State Convention, at Annapolis January 15-18, 1891, was one of the best ever held, and the attendance of delegates greater than at any previous State meeting. There was a spiritual influence felt at the first session, which increased until the last meeting, and resulted in the conversion of several young men on Sunday. Special meetings for young men only were held for ten days following the convention, with 50 professed conversions, 28 of whom have already united with the Church.

The week of prayer for young men was observed by all the Associations, and 223 professed conversions were reported as a result.

The year's work as a whole has been a progressive one; fewer discouragements have been reported than in other years, and there has been a marked growth in nearly all the larger Associations.

THEO. A. HARDING, Cor. Mem.

MASSACHUSETTS AND RHODE ISLAND.

The past year has been one of increased growth and activity in all lines of Association work.

There are at present 74 Associations, 63 reporting a total membership of 22,627; 57 report reading rooms, with an average daily attendance of 3,602; 40 report libraries, containing 26,443 volumes; 18 report buildings, valued at $1,024,500; 19 report building funds amounting to over $69,000. There are 106 general secretaries and other paid officers.

Associations have been organized during the year at Chicopee, Clinton, Northampton, Winchester, Melrose, Marion, and in the French Protestant School at Springfield.

The money for the employment of general secretaries at Newton and Middleboro has recently been secured.

The Charlestown Association has become a branch of the Boston Association, and the three Associations at Springfield have been reorganized upon the metropolitan plan.

The annual all day conference of the State Committee and paid officers of the Associations, was held in Boston, December 11, 1890. In the evening of the same day a banquet in the interest of the work was given to business men, at "The Thorndike." Among the 141 guests present were Lieutenant-Governor Haile, of Massachusetts, and Hon. Charles L. Colby, H. B. Chamberlain, Richard C. Morse and J. R. Mott, of the International Committee.

The State Convention was held at Haverhill, October 23-26, with 499 delegates representing 59 Associations, in attendance. The treasurer's report showed all bills paid and a balance in the treasury.

The Association building at Newburyport, costing over $50,000, has been completed. During the convention at Haverhill, James H. Carleton made a subscription of $10,000 toward a new building for the Association in that city. Amesbury has started a building fund; Holyoke has already secured $52,000 for the same purpose; and Southbridge now has $25,000 pledged towards a $50,000 building. Brockton, Northampton and Walton have secured better rooms.

College deputation work has been undertaken, and a committee has been appointed to make a systematic visitation of the higher educational institutions of the two States.

At the State Convention, 28 Associations reported 788 professed conversions for the year; and 30 Associations have since reported 202 professed conversions for the quarter ending December 31, 1890.

The State Committee has held two meetings outside of Boston, one at Natick, and the other at Fitchburg. At each place a reception and banquet was tendered to the committee and citizens.

The International Committee was represented at our State Convention, and has very kindly responded to all calls made upon it in the interests of our work.

S. B. CARTER, Cor. Mem.

MICHIGAN.

There are now in Michigan thirty-two Associations, an increase of six during the year.

New Associations have been organized at Port Huron, Battle Creek, St. Louis, Alpena, Menominee, and in the Michigan Mining School, at Houghton. Most of these Associations have called general secretaries, and have opened, or are about to open, well equipped rooms.

The number of paid officers in the State is now thirty-one, an increase of nine during the year.

Ground has been broken at Kalamazoo for a $35,000 building. The Grand Rapids Association and the Railroad Department at Detroit, are steadily increasing their building funds, and the Association at Sault Ste. Marie has been presented with a building lot.

There has been a healthy growth throughout the State, and the district work especially developed. Six conferences have been held during the year, with an aggregate attendance of 210. Another series is now in progress.

The college work received an impetus by the visits of J. C. White, and by the student deputation work.

The State Committee conducted a successful work at the military encampment of the Michigan State troops.

The State Convention was held at Flint, October 9-12, 1890, and, with two exceptions, every Association was represented. The number of delegates

MINNESOTA AND NORTH AND SOUTH DAKOTA.

Eight years ago there were less than half-a-dozen Associations in this field, and probably only three of those were in what could be called a flourishing condition. Now there are 48 Associations and branches, with 4,828 members. $37,793.69 was expended for current expenses during the past year; nine Associations report libraries with 3,268 volumes; twelve, furniture valued at $12,320; eight, gymnasiums; and four, Junior Departments. During the year, 25 of the Associations have held gospel meetings for men; 75 receptions and entertainments have been given; and five Associations report 9 educational classes. New Associations have been organized at Anoka, Minn., and among Indian young men at four points in the Dakotas.

The State Convention, by invitation of the Dakota Associations, was held at Sioux Falls, South Dakota, and was attended by 105 delegates. $1,626 was pledged for State work. It was decided to separate the Minnesota work from that of the Dakotas, and a Provisional Committee was appointed to have charge of the work in the latter field until such time as State Committees could be organized.

Work for woodsmen and miners was carried on in the earlier part of the year, but for lack of funds was discontinued.

College deputation work, and special evangelistic work by bands of college young men that spend their vacation in this way, has been carried on. A result of this work on the part of three bands in one week was about 150 professed conversions.

Much valuable help has been rendered the work by Messrs. Morse, Hicks, Mott and White, of the International Committee.

A Summer Bible School was held at White Bear Lake, with a fair attendance of workers, in special charge of H. E. Brown of the International Committee.

JOHN H. ELLIOTT, Cor. Mem.

MISSISSIPPI.

The work in Mississippi has made progress the past year. In some localities it looks discouraging, but taken as a State the Association has a firmer hold than it had twelve months ago.

Two Associations have secured general secretaries, making five such officers in the State.

The State Convention, at West Point, April 24-27, 1890, was encouraging, and the papers read indicate a growing knowledge of the work among our members.

We had the pleasure and profit of Mr. Cree's presence at the State Convention; and Mr. Ober has recently made us a short visit.

Some young men have been led to the Saviour, and much good has been done throughout the State by the influence of the Associations.

Our Associations are not strong enough to employ a State Secretary for all the year, but we hope to unite with a neighboring State the coming year in the employment of such an agent.

J. B. DOBYNS, Cor. Mem.

MISSOURI.

We are profoundly grateful to God for his continued guidance and blessing, and for the degree of prosperity that has attended the work in this State.

We now have 44 Associations—20 in cities and towns, 16 in colleges, 5 among railroad men, 1 colored and 2 German branches. 11 of these were organized during the year, among them being Hannibal, Carthage, and Joplin. At each of these places money was raised to carry on the work, including the employment of a general secretary for the first year.

The St. Louis Northside German Branch, since entering its new building, has accomplished a good work. This has so commended itself to the Germans in the southern part of the city that they, too, have organized, opened rooms, and employed a secretary. St. Louis has always been in the lead in the work among German young men, and she is the first city to organize more than one branch for their benefit.

College Associations were organized in two of the private normal schools, and in two military academies.

Some of the smaller and less important Associations have disbanded, but their loss has been more than made up for by the stronger ones that have been organized.

State Secretary Jacobs resigned September 1, 1890, and became the general secretary of the Hannibal Association. Much of the work of visitation, as well as the work at the office, has been performed since then by the assistant State Secretary, Mr. Child. The work of Evangelistic Secretary Botterill, has been owned and blessed of God, and as the result, the active members of the Associations have been quickened, and unconverted young men have been led to Christ.

The State Committee has employed the services of three agents for special work—J. W. Hansel, at Kansas City, for two months, in local financial work; S. A. Kincaid, in Lexington, for three months, in opening the way for the permanent employment of a general secretary; and W. Hargrave White, in office work at the headquarters in St. Louis, for three months. Though the working force of the committee has not been as large as it was last year, yet the work has not run behind, because of the time and attention bestowed upon it by individual members.

An excellent State Convention was held at Gallatin last October. 166 delegates were present, and $6,000 (same as last year) was subscribed for State work. Four district conferences have been held. They proved to be of great advantage not only to Associations in the towns in which they were held, but also to the places represented.

We are under great obligation to the International Committee for the services of Mr. Mott at the State Convention, and for the invaluable aid rendered the Railroad Association at Slater, by Mr. Hague.

T. S. MCPHEETERS, Cor. Mem.

NEBRASKA.

During the past year we have endeavored to strengthen the existing Associations, and to secure meetings and Bible training classes for men in the smaller towns. These meetings will lay the foundation for successful and intelligent Association workers in the future.

At present there are 33 Associations, an increase of 4 during the year. The number of general secretaries and assistants has increased to 21, located at 17 different points. We are glad to report that at last a start has been made in the railroad work; organizations have been established at two points, and similar action is contemplated at several other railroad towns, all due to the agency of the International Committee through its Secretary, Mr. Gates. There are seven well organized district committees, and conferences were held in each district during the year.

The county work in Pawnee county, which is still successfully maintained, has given such satisfaction that Gage county has formed a county organization, and preparations are being made for organizing in several other counties.

Work for boys is successfully conducted at 16 points, with a membership of 404. The sub-committee of the State Committee in charge of this department of the work, has given much time to its extension and development.

At nine points, work for commercial travelers is carried on. The State Committee is in correspondence with 59 Christian commercial travelers that travel in Nebraska.

The Summer conference for Bible study was held at Beatrice, with an attendance of 103. The gathering was one of much value and interest.

The State Convention, held at Grand Island, November 13-16, 1890, was attended by 196 delegates, and was a very helpful meeting.

Corresponding members have been appointed at forty-nine different points. Augustus Nash continues as our efficient State Secretary.

We tender our thanks to the International Committee for services rendered by Secretaries Weidensall Ober, Hague, Gates and I. E. Brown. We have needed this assistance more than in any previous year, and gladly and willingly has the Committee helped us.

GEORGE A. JOPLIN, Cor. Mem.

NEW HAMPSHIRE.

The work in this State during the past year has been different from that of former years, the "canvass work" being discontinued, and all our efforts devoted to definite Association work.

Special attention has been given to the organization and development of district work, and with good results. Several very successful district conventions have been held in different parts of the State. State Secretary Lawrence visited many of the cities and towns, and held one or more meetings in each place, in the interests of State and district work.

Our Associations are doing a good work, and in many respects are stronger than ever before. Six of them have general secretaries, and several of the larger ones have building funds.

The Keene Association has purchased a finely-located lot, for $8,500, and expects to erect soon a building thereon.

The twenty-third annual State Convention was held in Nashua, Oct. 9-12, 1890, 85 delegates being present. The International Committee was represented by H. M. Moore and S. A. Taggart. A State constitution was adopted, and a State Committee of fifteen elected. In many respects this was the most successful convention ever held in New Hampshire.

For the development and progress of our work during the past year, much credit is due to the faithful services of our State Secretary, and to the International Committee, which has rendered us valuable assistance in various ways.

NEW JERSEY.

The past year in this State has been one of growth and development in Association work.

Three Associations were organized, and the membership of those already existing has been increased materially.

Two Associations have occupied their own buildings for the first time, two have secured building sites, valued at $40,000, and several others report improved facilities in rented rooms.

General secretaries have been located at two new points, and assistants at three other points.

The religious work is in good condition, and shows encouraging results. Bible study is receiving increased attention.

The college work has been well cared for and is full of interest.

The railroad department has received considerable attention from the State Committee and State Secretary, and organizations at two important centres are expected soon.

David F. More continues as State Secretary, and his efficiency is evidenced by the general improvement of the entire work during the past three years. Four thousand dollars was raised for State work last year. It is proposed to increase the amount this year, and place an assistant secretary in the field.

The last State Convention was attended by upwards of four hundred delegates, and was of much benefit. The district conventions have all been well attended, strong programs have been provided, and the local spiritual results have been encouraging.

The International Committee was represented at the State and district conventions, and has aided the work in other ways.

NEW YORK.

600 delegates, representing 136 Associations with a membership of 37,775, attended the twenty-fifth annual State Convention, held at Lockport, February 19-22, 1891. The report of the State Committee submitted to that meeting was most encouraging.

Associations have been organized since my last report at Catskill, Warsaw, East Lockport (branch), and Genesee Wesleyan Seminary, at Lima.

In 105 of the Associations, general secretaries are employed, nearly every one of whom was secured through the efforts of the State Committee. The prosperity attending the work in this State is largely due to the efficient general secretaries. 196 men are now employed in our State, an increase of 12 during the year. Five new secretarial points have been opened.

One new building (at Rochester) has been dedicated, and four have been purchased and renovated. 37 Associations now own their buildings, and at several other points, Associations are provided with buildings free of rent. The value of buildings and building funds owned by the Associations is $2,679,500. About $350,000 was expended last year by the local Associations in their work.

Ten district conventions, and several local conferences, have been held with an aggregate attendance of 575 delegates.

A temporary work is maintained each year at the State Encampment of the National Guard, at Peekskill. A reading room, library, correspondence tables, entertainments, religious services, and a cool, inviting rendezvous, are provided for the large numbers of young men from all parts of the State that are detailed for duty there. The expenses for this work for 1890 was $528.94.

The 26 Railroad Branches now in existence are all doing good service. Two—at East Albany and at 30th Street, New York City—have been discontinued. A hospital connected with the branch at East Buffalo is a new feature. 64 persons were treated there during the past three months. Lunch rooms and sleeping accommodations opened at some places have proved very popular. The total membership of the Railroad Branches in the State is 7,210.

The 15 College Associations have been doing a steady and, in some cases, an aggressive work. During July and August a vacation evangelistic tour was made by a company of college students, under the supervision of our State Secretary. Over 800 persons manifested an interest in their souls salvation.

51 Associations engaged in work for boys report a membership in this department of between five and six thousand.

Special efforts have been made to encourage Bible study, and work for personal purity, and among boys, railroad men, non-English speaking young men, commercial travelers, and young men residing in small towns where Associations do not exist. Over 1,200 men have professed conversion in immediate connection with the work of the year.

The growth of the Association cause in this State is largely due to the untiring and sympathetic zeal of State Secretary Hall, and his assistants.

NORTH CAROLINA.

The entire services of a State Secretary (L. A. Coulter) were enjoyed for the first time last year, and the result shows the wisdom of the step. The Associations, old and young, vigorous and weak, have been met at critical moments with his valuable aid and counsel. As a consequence, the whole movement is progressing on the lines that experience has shown to be the true course of Association effort.

The district conventions, five in number, held near the end of 1890, indicated more clearly than ever how firm a hold the Association is getting on the young men of North Carolina. Each convention was largely attended, and the most faithful work was done by the delegates. They were each carried on almost entirely without outside help.

Ten Associations have general secretaries, and four have buildings either erected or in process of erection.

No Association, so far as known, has disbanded, and, on the other hand, few Associations have been organized.

Intercollegiate visitation has been carried on during the year, but the full extent of it will not be known till the State Convention, March 19th. Valuable assistance has been rendered in this line by various agents of the International Committee.

Large preparations are being made for the State Convention, and it promises to be more largely attended than any of the preceding ones.

GEORGE B. HANNA, Cor. Mem.

OHIO.

Five years ago there were but 36 Associations in Ohio, now there are 71 Of these, 7 have been organized during the past year.

New buildings have been opened at Canton, Cleveland and Youngstown. Painesville has secured excellent accomodations by remodeling an old structure. Cincinnati has a large building in progress, and Columbus and Middletown are securing building funds.

The 26 College Associations in the State have had a prosperous year and report an enrolled membership of 7,470.

The 5 Railroad Associations are all vigorous, especially the one at Columbus, which reports 400 new members.

5 successful district conferences have been held.

65 men are now devoting their entire time to Association work in Ohio.

The State Convention held at Springfield, February 12-15, 1891, was largely attended and full of interest. The discussions were animated, and the devotional meetings unusually profitable. The International Committee was represented by Secretary J. R. Mott. The State Committee has expended $5,400 during the year, and hopes to have at its disposal a larger sum for the work of the present year, which begins under most favorable auspices.

H. P. LLOYD, Cor. Mem.

OREGON, WASHINGTON, AND BRITISH COLUMBIA.

The Associations in the Pacific Northwest have made a decided advance in all lines of work during the past year.

The annual convention in Portland, September 24-28, 1890, was the most successful ever held. There were present 153 delegates, representing 23 Associations, as against 119, representing 15 Associations, in 1889. Henry E. Brown represented the International Committee. The reports from the various Associations were uniformly good, and the large number of professed conversions mentioned showed an earnest spiritual work. Nine Associations expended $29,705 for current expenses; and $89,300 was reported as subscribed for buildings during the year. 12 Associations reported a total membership of 2,244.

The vacancy caused by the resignation of State Secretary Johnson, on account of ill health, was filled by the election of J. A. Dummett, who is doing good work.

During the past year the erection of buildings has been started in Spokane Falls, Seattle, Vancouver, and New Westminster, and the Associations in Tacoma and Portland have conducted successful building canvasses. It is very important that these buildings be completed as speedily as possible, for our cities are thronged with young men that cannot be effectively reached until the Associations have improved facilities and attractive quarters.

The work among railroad men inaugurated by the International Committee, through its agent, C. L. Gates, has already accomplished great good. Well equipped reading rooms have been opened at Tekoa and Huntington, and we are informed by a citizen of the latter place that the work there has caused a falling off in the business of the saloons of a $1,000 in a single month. Quarters for Railroad Associations are now being prepared at La Grange and Portland, and at various other points steps are being taken to begin a similar work.

During the year, district conventions have been held at New Westminster, Port Townsend and Astoria, and have been productive of much benefit.

Valuable assistance has been rendered by the International Committee through correspondence, and by the visits of its secretaries, Messrs. Brown and Gates.

J. THORBURN ROSS, Cor. Mem.

PENNSYLVANIA.

Five hundred and forty-one delegates from 95 Associations, including 189 from College Associations, attended the State Convention held at Danville, October 23-26, 1890.

The district work has been specially emphasized during the year, 11 conventions having been held, at 9 of which the average attendance of delegates was 87.

Nine Associations are now engaged in building enterprises.

There has been a marked growth in college work during the year. We now have 35 College Associations, as against 28, reported last year.

The interest manifested both by the corporations and the men, in the Railroad Department of our work during the year, has been greater than ever before, and several new Associations among railroad men have been organized.

There are now 125 Associations in the State, an increase of 11 during the year. The general tone of the organizations is steadily improving.

The International Committee through a number of its agents has rendered valuable aid to the work in this State along various lines.

C. H. ZEHNDER, Cor. Mem.

SOUTH CAROLINA.

Nearly all the Associations in this State are located in small towns; but there are four points where secretaries are employed, and at these places seven men are giving their entire time to the work.

Last October we secured W. A. Wynne as State Secretary. He has done as much as circumstances would allow in visiting the existing organizations, and counseling with them.

The State Convention and one district convention were held during the year.

Funds for buildings have been pledged at both Columbia and Anderson, and lots have been secured, and plans adopted. The buildings, it is expected, will be completed during the present year.

The work in our College Associations has been most encouraging. Some deputation work has been done, and the spiritual interest is deep and gratifying. A number of conversions have occurred.

County work has just been undertaken, and the outlook for good results is hopeful. Edgefield county has been organized with a secretary in charge, and the effect is encouraging.

We are getting into more definite lines of Association work. General religious effort is being almost entirely abandoned, and specific results among young men are being more and more aimed for.

We acknowledge with pleasure visits to our State from Robert Weidensall and Charles K. Ober of the International Committee. Their presence and counsel have been inspiring and helpful.

ATHA T. JAMISON, Cor. Mem.

TENNESSEE.

The twelfth State Convention was held October 23-26, at Columbia, and was attended by 140 delegates, representing 26 Associations. This was the largest and most enthusiastic convention yet held. The International Committee was ably represented by Thomas C. Day, James Bowron, and Robert Weidensall, whose presence contributed much to the interest of the meeting.

While six Associations have ceased to exist during the year, eight new ones have been added. Secretarial points have been opened at Harriman, Dyersburg, Columbia, and University of Tennessee, and secretaries placed in charge. The Knoxville and Chattanooga Associations have enlarged their rooms during the year, and have employed physical directors. There are now fifteen men in this State giving their entire time to Association work.

Since my last report the building at Union City has been completed and occupied. The University of Tennessee Association is erecting a beautiful building, now almost completed.

The district work is in good condition, and the usual number of convention will be held this Spring.

Four College Associations have been added during the year, making the present number eighteen. Two college conferences have recently been held; one at the Southwestern Presbyterian University at Clarksville, and the other at Tusculum College. Thirteen colleges were represented at these conferences. J. C. White represented the International Committee at both conferences, and rendered valuable service. C. K. Ober has been of great assistance in securing funds for the erection of the building at the University of Tennessee. The college deputation visitations has been found very helpful in the college work of this State.

TEXAS.

The past year has witnessed a marked advance in the Association cause in Texas.

The State Convention at Marshall, April 17-20, 1890, was the largest and best ever held in this State. The International Committee was represented by S. A. Taggart. It was there and then decided to employ a State Secretary, and such an officer was secured in the person of W. E. Wayte, State Secretary of Maryland, who began his labors here in October.

We have now 31 Associations; 12 secretarial points; 3 physical directors; 5 College Associations (last year there was one); and 18 persons devoting their whole time to the work (last year there were 10); and 4 cities that can employ general secretaries are now asking for Associations.

The International Committee has rendered us assistance by sending Mr. Wayte and Mr. Taggart to our State in the Spring of 1890, for visitation and help in the local work; by the recent labors among our colleges of Secretary White; and by its counsel in securing a State Secretary.

JUDSON B. PALMER, Cor. Mem.

VERMONT.

The reports of the Associations in Vermont reveal a very satisfactory condition, so far as those that employ secretaries are concerned. One new Association, with a secretary, has been organized at Bennington, and is doing a very effective work. The State Convention was held at Bennington at the invitation of this new Association, and was very helpful to the work there.

The Associations at St. Johnsbury, Rutland, and Brattleboro continue to do very efficient work. The secretarial force in those Associations remain the same, and show the good effect of a fair degree of permanency in one field.

The Burlington Association has secured a secretary, John Gibson, and the work at that point is prosperous and in most respects the best the Association has ever done.

We are at present without a State Secretary. Plans are being discussed in regard to co-operative work between the Christian Endeavor Societies and the Associations, along the lines that are usually followed in district work, and it is hoped that this new departure, if entered upon, will prove of great value.

W. J. VAN PATTEN, Acting Cor. Mem.

VIRGINIA.

Association work in Virginia for 1890, shows the largest advance ever made before in this State in one year.

13 Associations have been organized; 8 vacancies in the secretaryship filled; and 5 general secretaries employed in new fields. 29 men have devoted their entire time to the work.

6 district, 1 college, and 1 secretaries' conferences have been held.

One new Association building has been completed, making six, valued at $158,000, now owned by the Associations of this State. Three building lots, worth $156,000, and four building funds, amounting to $27,000, have been secured.

Evangelistic meetings for men have been held at ten places, and 308 men and boys have professed conversion.

For ten days, in July, an encampment for members of the Associations in the State was held at Hampton. A special feature of this gathering was Bible readings morning and night, conducted by Rev. Dr. Dinwiddie, followed by discussion, for thirty minutes, of Association work. The encampment proved so successful that it will be repeated this year, and probably become a permanent part of our work. The International Committee was represented at this gathering by Secretary Taggart.

The State College Conference, at Richmond, November 14-16, was an unusually strong one. Messrs. Mott and Sanders represented the International Committee.

The fifteenth annual State Convention was held at Lynchburg, Feb. 12-15, 1891, and was by far the most successful yet held. Nearly 400 delegates were in attendance. The International Committee was represented by two of its members, Mr. Miller and Mr. McBurney, and by its Railroad Secretary, Mr. Hicks. We are greatly indebted to this Committee for valuable assistance rendered to the work in this State.

$6,000 has been secured for State work for 1891, and Messrs. Williams and Dadmun, who have had charge of the work for the past year, will continue as State Secretaries. Much of the present prosperity of our work is due, under God, to the several years' labor among us of State Secretary Williams.

C. C. BERRY, Cor. Mem.

WISCONSIN.

The year 1890 was one of progress along the valuable lines of Association effort.

District work was especially emphasized in the holding of district and local conferences, to the number of thirty-five. These resulted in one hundred and thirty-four professed conversions, and a strengthening of the religious work in the localities where they were held. In many cases, the assistant State Secretary followed up this work by special evangelistic services of one or two weeks, which resulted in three hundred professed conversions.

The work among the lumbermen—that unequaled home missionary field—was prospered under the hands of the three secretaries. One hundred and ninety-one of the thousand lumber camps were visited, and many conversions resulted.

During the year, three of the weaker Associations have died. The Baraboo Association has entered its beautiful new building. The Oshkosh Association has not sold its building, as it had decided to do at the time of my last year's report, and is in better condition than ever before. The German Department at Milwaukee entered its new building, and is doing a substantial work. Progress is being made upon the building fund of the State University Association, at Madison. Help has been rendered in this connection during the year by Secretary Hicks, of the International Committee.

The current expenses of the Associations were $48,688.61; of the State Committee, $12,498.68. Thirty-five men are employed in the local and State work.

The college department, under direction of W. J. Turner, is very prosperous and fruitful. Twenty-six students attended the Lake Geneva Students' Summer School.

The event that makes the year 1890 most memorable for very sadness, is the death of the beloved State Secretary, William E. Lewis, which occurred at Lake Geneva, August 25th, after a short illness. His name was the synonym among Association men throughout the continent for strength, clearness of judgment, and power with God and men. His life is its own eulogy.

James R. Pratt, the assistant State Secretary, was chosen as Mr. Lewis' successor.

The State Convention was held at La Crosse, October 15-19, and was attended by 155 delegates. S. A. Taggart and J. C. White were present as representatives of the International Committee.

TABLE III.—CITY AND

COMPILED FROM OFFICIAL REPORTS RECEIVED BY THE INTERNATIONAL COMMITTEE BETWEEN JANUARY 5 AND MARCH 5, 1891.

The names of officers are the most recent that have come to the knowledge of the Committee, as far as convenience of printing permits their insertion. Some later changes among the paid officers of the Associations may be found in Table II., General Secretaries, etc. The Secretaries' names in SMALL CAPITALS denote General Secretaries.

As some Associations prefer to report for their official years, closing at various dates, it is impossible to secure reports to any one date. But the reports, for the most part, are for the calendar year 1890. A few reports from Associations recently organized cover a period less than a year.

TABLE V.—RAILROAD DEPARTMENT.

The names in SMALL CAPITALS in list of Secretaries denote General Secretaries, the others, Corresponding Secretaries. Provisional organization effected by the International or State Committee. A figure preceding a letter indicates the number of Meetings (as G 5). Figures following a letter indicate average attendance (as G 55). The deficiency in the reports from some of the Departments is due to the fact that the work at these points has just been begun. Places printed in italics have failed to report this year.

TABLE IX.—WORK FOR BOYS.

This table has reference to work exclusively for Boys. It includes only those Associations reporting an organized work in operation prior to January 1, 1891. Several Associations have failed to report; others have instituted such a work since January 1; and a number hold meetings for Boys, or grant them certain of their regular privileges.

WASHINGTON IMMIGRATION AND HOMESTEAD ASSOCIATION,

54 COLUMBIA STREET, SEATTLE, WASH.

Branch Office: No. 26 OAK STREET, PORTLAND, ORE.

GEORGE M. WILLARD, PRESIDENT.

JOHN MULLER, SECRETARY.

In the interest of the States of Washington and Oregon, there has been incorporated a company in the City of Seattle, under the title of the Washington Immigration and Homestead Association, to encourage and to divert a high class of immigration to these States by the publication of every kind of reliable information, the issuance of explanatory maps, and the distribution of the same throughout the United States and Europe.

We have for sale 10,000 acres in different parts of the State, in 5, 10, 20, 40, 80 and 160-acre farms—good farming lands; 40 acres at Enumclaw, 30 miles on Northern Pacific Railway.

160 acres land, water front, on Hood's Canal, $15 per acre cash.

10 acres near Houghton, $80 per acre; eight 5-acre tracts near Snohomish $2.50 each; five 10-acre tracts near Eagle Harbor, $40 per acre; one relinquishment near Snohomish; 136 acres near Snohomish, $25 per acre; 80 acres near Lake Washington, $45 per acre; cheap land, timber and agricultural lands, in all parts of the State.

We are about to plant 2,000 acres within two and a half miles of PORT ANGELES, surveying the same into 5, 10 and 20 acre tracts for small fruit and vegetable farms and dairies. The prices will range from $30 to $50 per acre; also 10 lots in Port Angeles, 100x140 each, $50 each; 10 acres near Kirkland, $80 per acre; 160 acres near Redmond, $12.50 per acre; 10 5-acre tracts near Snohomish, $50 per acre.

20 choice lots in "Crane Addition," 40x120, near Madison street power house, cheap.

Land in 5, 10, 20 and 40-acre tracts in every county in the State.

We have formed a connection with the Oregon Homestead Company, of 26 Oak Street, Portland, Oregon.

We have the largest and most valuable tracts of land in the States of Oregon and Washington. We receive none for subdivision or sale that we cannot have endorsed by the leading residents of the districts in which such land is situated. We receive none except such as have an absolute, perfect title. Among others we have 8,600 acres in a body near Port Angeles, Washington—an elegant tract for a colony—$20 per acre; 1,200 acres in a body near the above, $20 per acre; "The Hawthorne Homestead," near Hillsboro, Oregon, 100 10-acre farms, $125 per acre; 40 acres near Port Townsend, $20 per acre; 20 10-acre farms in King's Valley, Benton County, $12.50 to $15 per acre; 120 acres near Portland—12 miles—$25 per acre; 100 lots in "Hawthorne's First Addition" to East Portland, $500 to $600 each; 50 lots in Chelsea Addition to East Portland, $300 to $450 each. Large and small farms, school lands, timber lands and homesteads.

Parties in the Eastern States or Europe will be supplied with information about the resources of Oregon and Washington, maps, etc., etc., by addressing this office, and when ready to visit our States can obtain reliable information in reference to transportation or freights by calling upon or writing to the following offices of the Northern Pacific Railway, where circulars can be obtained free of charge:

These Works cover an area of 1,200 acres, employ about 18,000 men, have the most improved plant, and stand unique, from the fact that they have their own Ore and Coal Mines, Blast Furnaces, etc., and that every stage of manufacture is under their own supervision, and are not (like others)-dependent on the open market for a miscellaneous assortment of crude material, which, in connection with 75 years' experience, enables them to turn out a product of a very superior quality, second to none, and at the same time the different grades of Steel are always of the same uniform quality.

Locomotive Tires, Steel-Tired Wheels, Axles, Crank Pins, Shafts and Steel Forgings up to 70 Tons.

Steel of every description, Forged, Rolled, etc., into any form or article desired.

---

After a test of over 25 years, the "Krupp Tire" has proved itself to be the best in the market, and parties intending ordering Locomotives would do well to insert in their specifications that "Krupp Tires" be used on drivers, and thereby obtain an article which will give satisfaction.

“SPECIAL” “MACHINED” CAR WHEELS.

We make these wheels in the following diameters and weights :

42 inches,	-	-	-	1,200 pounds.
40 “	-	-	-	1,000 “
36 “	-	-	-	750 “	Double Plate or
33 “	-	-	-	600 “	Open Spoke.
30 “	-	-	-	550 “
28 “	-	-	-	500 “

They are offered especially for passenger and locomotive service and are made under our System of Comparative Tests, each wheel having individual tests to establish quality.

These tests prove in each case the particular conditions in each wheel, and for “Special” wheels the basis of strength is 50 per cent. higher than for standard wheels on any known test for strength—“Pennsylvania,” etc.

Our 36 inch, 40 inch and 42 inch wheels are in use on some of the leading railroads, replacing steel tired wheels. They are bored, ground absolutely true, and balanced before shipment. Further information furnished upon application by
